Big Test Facing Strikers

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of Britain's wildcat seamen's strike faced a major test Monday night as the big liner Queen Elizabeth steamed to port at Southampton amid mounting tension.

Strikers threatened an all-out effort to get the Elizabeth's 1,300-man crew to join the walkout in the three days before the $3,673-ton vessel, the world's biggest liner, is scheduled to sail back to New York Thursday.

Republic Born In Congo

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (Reuters)—Another independent African republic was born here Monday and it was a happy event in contrast to the sharp birth pains of the neighboring former Belgian Congo.

Extravagant good wishes were exchanged between France and the new nation as a 101-gun salute marked the independence of this former colonial territory of French Equatorial Africa.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today recognized the new Republic of Congo.

The Republic of Congo is headed by Abbe Fulbert Youlou as president and premier.

Named to highest U.S. military post is army chief of staff Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, 60, a former paratrooper general. He will succeed the air force's 62-year-old Gen. Soviet Lawyer Competent

MOSCOW (AP)—The family of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers met his Soviet lawyer for the first time Monday and expressed confidence he is competent and will do his best to help the flyer when he goes on trial Wednesday on espionage charges.

Alexander W. Parker of Richmond, Va., a lawyer who accompanied the pilot's wife, Mrs. Barbara Powers, called the meeting with Soviet lawyer Mikhail Ilich Griniov "highly satisfactory."

Griniov is a kindly-faced man with thinning, close-cropped grey hair and a tiny beard. He was one of the Soviet prosecutors at the Nuernberg trials.

Secretary of State Christian Herter, in a letter to Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Monday, accused the Russians of concealing something. Herter said this must be the reason the Russians have refused to let any American see the flyer.

Congo Crisis Alerts UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold last night summoned an urgent new meeting of the security council on the latest Congo crisis. The council was expected to meet Wednesday or Thursday.

Hammarskjold acted after Premier Patrice Lumumba announced in Leopoldville that the Congolese government had "no confidence" in the secretary-general and his efforts to pacify the six-week-old West African republic.

Hammarskjold left Leopoldville for New York in a special Swiss Air DC-6 provided for him by the Swiss government.

He was bound for Paris and was scheduled to arrive at New York International Airport early today.

Lumumba, after denouncing Hammarskjold, asked him to delay his departure from Leopoldville to permit a Congolese delegation to travel with him.

Youths Stone Police

CALGARY (CP)—RCMP today disclosed the extent of a riot that erupted Saturday night in the village of Okotoks south of here, involving more than 100 knife-wielding, rock-throwing youths.

Police said their cars were stoned by the mob and reinforcements had to be called from Calgary and High River. The riot apparently began in the main street outside a dance hall and overflowed into a side alley and a main street restaurant. Spectators were pulled from their cars and threatened by the youths.

No arrests were made, police said, because the three policemen first on the scene could manage only to prevent further outbreaks until aid arrived.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two paralytic polio cases admitted to the Vancouver General Hospital over the weekend were reported in fair condition Monday.

Three cases were reported at Kitimat, two men in their thirties and a youth of 14.

This brings the year's total in B.C. to 102.

Crime Increase 'Startling'

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Monday reported a "startling" increase in United States crime during the first six months of 1960, as reflected in preliminary reports from police in cities of more than 25,000 population.

The report said these urban areas had a nine-per-cent crime increase as compared with the first half of 1959, with jumps in every major offence category.

For the six-month period, robberies were up 13 per cent, the highest increase. Burglaries followed closely with a 12 per cent rise.

Murders, the report showed, advanced six per cent, forcible rape and auto theft five per cent, and aggravated assault four per cent.

Car in Collision Hits Tree, House

One person was killed and two injured shortly before midnight last night in a violent collision involving two cars, one of which glanced off a tree and plowed into the front of a home on Hillside near Belmont.

Police found the body of PO David Orton, HMCS Margaree, cut through by the twisting impact, on the pavement, about 150 feet from the wall of the house at 1503 Hillside where the hurtling car crunched to a stop.

ONE IN HOSPITAL

Another person in the same car, unidentified by press time, was taken to Naden hospital, but he was not believed to be seriously injured.

Police were not certain which person was driving the car.

Driver of the other car was Atwell C. D. King, 2691 Townley, treated for minor cuts and released from St. Joseph's Hospital.

B.C. Surplus $5,147,336

An unprecedented early release of the public accounts for the province was made by Premier Bennett yesterday.

The premier told a press conference in Victoria that if the Social Credit government followed the fiscal policies of other provinces it could claim the "largest surplus in our history."

He referred to the $71,820,762.69 surplus of current account revenue over expenditure listed in the public accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1960. This showed an increase of more than $10,000,000 over the 1959 surplus.

However, Premier Bennett said, under Social Credit's "pay-as-you-go" system the overall net surplus for the year was $5,147,336.14—down from the 1959 figure of $8,533,761.96.

This net surplus was left after $47,582,437.05 was deducted for capital expenditure out of income; another $18,906,999 was used for debt redemption; and there was a $183,990 net loss on the sale of investments which the premier blamed on "high interest rates set by the national government."

Mr. Bennett said the public accounts were delivered to his office yesterday morning and "released forthwith to the press" that afternoon.

FIRST TIME

"It is the first time in the history of our province that a government has been able to get the information contained in its financial report to the public so early," the premier said.

He added that during the past eight years the Social Credit government has "cleared the decks for action" by getting rid of the province's direct debt and still has managed to increase B.C.'s total assets by 150 per cent.

EARLY RELEASE

Early release of the public accounts was hailed last night by CCF leader Robert Strachan as a "good idea" which he hoped would be continued.

"There has always been too long a time lag between the end of the fiscal year and release of the report," said Mr. Strachan.

Russians Leaving China by Trainloads

LONDON (UPI)—Relations between the Soviet Union and China have deteriorated to such a point that Soviet technicians and advisers are leaving China "by the trainload," it was reported yesterday.

The reports came from Yugoslav correspondents in Peking and obviously were passed by the strict Chinese Communist censorship. There were similar reports in French circles.

It generally has been known that severe ideological differences have erupted between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and China's Mao Tse-tung.

The chief difference between the two is that Khrushchev believes modern events and weapons have done away with

Lenin's teaching that war between the Communist and capitalist nations is inevitable. Khrushchev says there must be "peaceful co-existence."

The Chinese Communists follow the Lenin teachings to the letter and are said to believe that a nuclear war even might aid the Communists because there are so many of them they would survive—that such a war might even be desirable.

B.C. Police Group To Back Esquimalt

Support of the B.C. Federation of Peace Officers was voted yesterday at Esquimalt police union in an effort to obtain implementation of a contract clause now more than two years old.

The clause called for three weeks' vacation after five years' service.

The federation, in convention at the Ingham Hotel yesterday, heard Const. Frank Mitchell of the Esquimalt force say that provincial legislation ruled that the findings of a conciliation board, such as that which laid down the clause, were binding.

Since then, said Const. Mitchell, the union had spent $500 in legal costs "and got nowhere."

Federation delegates agreed that the Esquimalt union ask the Labor Relations Board for permission to prosecute Esquimalt Township to seek enforcement of the clause, with legal costs to be borne by the federation.

During the afternoon session the federation, representing the four municipalities of Greater Victoria and Vancouver, New Westminster, West Vancouver, Matsqui and Ladner, re-elected Lorne Shandley, of Victoria to his fourth term as president.

Also re-elected were Robert Peterson, Saanich, first vice-president; Fred Mercer, New Westminster, second vice-president; Jack Thomas, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer; and Robin Stewart, Saanich; Ken Hill, West Vancouver, and Jack Groves, Oak Bay, trustees.

A welcome to the delegates was extended by Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich, who urged steps be taken through provincial legislation to obtain professional status for police officers.

He also recommended that the federation establish uniform standards of training for police officers, through cooperation with the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

Afternoon session heard considerable discussion on the

Refugee Shot In Riot

ELISABETHVILLE, Congo (AP)—A young Belgian businessman reached this capital of Katanga province Monday with a bullet wound in the neck and reports of violent inter-tribal clashes in northern Katanga.

The 28-year-old Belgian, who was not seriously wounded, said he was shot by a former member of the Congolese army while fleeing from Mulongo in the north.

He said at least one Belgian soldier was killed trying to end tribal fighting between the Thokwes, supporters of Premier Moise Tshombe and anti-Tshombe Balubas.

Swedish United Nations troops, patrolling the city after taking over from Belgian troops, looked the other way during the disturbances. They are pledged to political neutrality.

Green's Goal:

Push of Opinion

OTTAWA (CP) — World opinion must be mobilized to push the nuclear powers, East and West, to try again to reach agreement on disarmament, External Affairs Minister Green said Monday night.

In an interview before his departure for United Nations headquarters in New York, Mr. Green said the most practical course now open is to resume the 10-nation disarmament committee discussions which were broken off abruptly in Geneva June 27.

"We have taken the position ever since the Eastern people walked out that the question should be referred to the United Nations disarmament commission, and finally the United States and ourselves asked that the commission be called together to deal with the question," he said.

The 82-nation disarmament commission, including all United Nations members, meets in New York today. The meeting may last three days, and Mr. Green said he hopes it will decide that the 10-nation committee should resume its discussions immediately. Mr. Green will personally put Canada's plea for an immediate resumption of negotiations before the commission.

Airport Improvement

IN a sense Transport Minister Hees' announcement of a new terminal building for the Patricia Bay Airport comes as anti-climactic; it has been long promised and long expected. Nor can airports remain static when each year sees bigger and faster aircraft brought into service. The new development will be welcome nevertheless; it promises to provide Victoria with modern passenger facilities for the first time.

The federal transport minister says this should satisfy Victoria's needs until at least 1970. Were it not that the new five-storey building suggests otherwise this would indicate a view hardly borne out by airline progress. There is no telling the type of planes that will be seeking to land here by 1970, or the volume of traffic to be handled by them.

Regrettably there is no word yet of extending the runways, which are as necessary as a new terminal building. The two in fact should go together. Mr. Hees says he has had no request from any airline for longer runways; which seems a peculiar observation. Since the pattern in Canada is for the transport department to build the airports and the airlines to lease them one would suppose they worked together in assessing future needs. Airlines are introducing ever faster and larger jet aircraft and that must be as obvious to the department as to anyone else.

Terminals are therefore a matter of joint interest and concern, or should be. One half of the business should not have to wait to be asked by the other half.

Until longer runways are available at Patricia Bay jet aircraft will be unable to use this airport on scheduled operations and it will never be wholly adequate until they do; and to ignore this aspect is to ignore the tremendous scope and change of modern air travel.

There will be general satisfaction that at least terminal building facilities are to be improved, however. This should greatly enhance the Patricia Bay layout and bring the airport more into line with others elsewhere. It also points the way towards longer runways, for these are bound to come despite the present guarded attitude of the transport department. Another federal election, for instance, might cause the department to realize they are needed, after all.

Uneasy Heritage

MR. Hazen Argue faces a trying time ahead as the new national leader of the CCF party. Not only does he have to fill the shoes of his two highly esteemed predecessors, the late Mr. J. S. Woodsworth and Mr. M. J. Coldwell, but he also faces the unenviable job early next year of leading his party in negotiations with the Canadian Labor Congress aimed at forming a new national left-wing party which will seek the combined support of organized labor and farmers throughout Canada.

To these chores is added the possibility that Mr. Diefenbaker could call a snap election at any time—spectre enough to haunt any party sitting on the wrong side of the House, let alone one entering a period of metamorphosis.

There is no doubt that Mr. Argue is a capable and astute parliamentarian who deserves the respect of his fellow members, but whether he will prove a strong enough leader to conclude successfully a fusion of the CCF and the CLC without sacrificing any of his party's principles, remains to be seen.

Although being national leader—a post fought against by some factions within the CCF—places Mr. Argue in the running for the leadership of the new left-wing party, it is not at all certain that he will get it. It has been rumored that Saskatchewan's Premier T. C. Douglas may step down from his present office to take the helm. Stanley Knowles, long time CCF Member of Parliament and now vice-president of the CLC, is also mentioned as a contender.

Either of these men, in all probability, would receive more support both from within the CCF party and from the CLC ranks than Mr. Argue. It appears, then, that Mr. Argue could be considered simply a stop-gap leader with the onerous task of presiding over the demise of the CCF party.

Majority of Whom?

IN consideration of the Liquor Control Board's surprising abandonment of the plan to open a retail store in a fast growing Saanich suburban centre suspicion is unavoidable that the democratic principle usually applied in matters of this sort was overlooked or wrongly interpreted.

The plan originated as part of a belated and slow-moving policy of decentralizing government liquor outlets. Since the government and the board in all such matters rarely act until public clamor has become almost deafening, it is safe to assume that there was strong public demand for a store in the new Shelbourne Street shopping centre; and that it came from people who wanted service.

Then, after a period of silence and inactivity, came the announcement that the promised store would not be opened because the board had been so inundated by protests that to do so would be to go against the wishes of the majority.

Is that really the case? First of all, who made all these protests? If they were from residents of the area served by that particular shopping centre then they would be valid. But if they came from elsewhere the board should throw them out. It is not the business of anyone living in the city or Oak Bay or even another part of Saanich to try to block the extension of a public service to the Shelbourne or any other area.

Again, were the objections directed against the establishment of a new store or against liquor? Recalling the experience of Oak Bay and other districts, one may assume the latter.

In that case the protests would be completely irrelevant, because liquor is a commodity lawfully sold in this province according to the will of the majority as expressed by the last plebiscite. Anyone who attempts by devious means to oppose the sale of liquor is setting himself against the system under which public decisions are made and carried out.

This is not intended as a defence of liquor, which may or may not be a social evil; merely to point out that the moral issue should not enter into the board's decision. As the sole purveyor of liquor in B.C. the government is obligated to attend to the needs and convenience of its customers. Sometimes the thinking of the board appears to be confused on this aspect of its jurisdiction.

Interpreting the News

Canada and the Congo

By JAMES NELSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RUSSIA'S protest to the United Nations against Canada's participation in the Congo operation fell with an ineffective thud on the government—and the Parliament—of Canada.

External Affairs Minister Gree, termed Russia's action "meddling," and asserted it would make no change in Canadian policy, which earlier won unanimous support from Parliament.

Russia regards all NATO members as satellites of the United States, in much the same way as the West looks on Iron Curtain states as puppets of Moscow. Thus the Russian protest did not cut much ice with the Canadian government, already bolstered in its decision by a parliamentary vote.

However, some foreign affairs authorities in Ottawa see possibility of a cloud over Canada's good name in the United Nations in the future.

The decision on which countries should be invited to participate in the Congolese action was left to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, with the implied recommendation that he steer clear of any of the big powers.

The Canadian government regarded it as a compliment that the UN turned to Canada among the first countries it asked for help. It was seen also as a recognition of the Canadian contribution to United Nations police actions in Korea and the Middle East, and the international truce supervisions in Indochina and the Kashmir.

However, it may have propaganda value for Russia in Africa, if it succeeds in creating an impression that Canada is nothing more than a tool and lackey of Western imperialists.

One fear expressed by foreign affairs experts is that Canada's good name internationally may be damaged to such an extent that the UN may hesitate to invite Canada to participate in similar activities in the future.

Canada's reputation as an international goodwill agent has, by the fortunes of circumstance, been on the upswing in recent months.

In such endeavors as the World Refugee Year, and in such emergencies as the Chilean earthquakes, Canada found itself able to contribute emergency food supplies from its domestic surpluses; together with the aircraft to transport them, and has been able to provide a haven for refugees.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

FOR all that Vancouver is our hereditary enemy—always trying to poach on our preserves too—my heart bleeds when its football Lions lie prostrate before an Eastern invader. One must stick with one's kin, you know, and a lion couchant rather than rampant is not good advertisement for the bounding, buoyant province of electioneering phrase. One trusts therefore that the Lions, capital L, will be up and doing this autumn season with a vengeance.

If past years are a criterion there is either something wrong with the B.C. air or with the example of the lions, small I though they are made of stone, which overlook Empire Stadium. These are cast in a most lethargic attitude, not one calculated to inspire precipitate action in their name. They are in fact couchant plus, suiting a picture postcard much better than a football field. Perhaps Empire Stadium was built on the wrong site.

There might even be wonder if it wouldn't have been better for Vancouver's gridiron gladiators to have another name. One can appreciate the seeming aptness of choice when a few years ago Vancouver ventured into the jungle of Canadian football. A lion should be perfectly at home in a jungle. It is believed to roar loudly enough to make all others quake; but unfortunately these Eastern invaders have not been studying natural history. For the most part they refuse to quake, as though unaware that the lion is the king of beasts.

Perhaps, after all, it isn't. If one visits the Seattle zoo, for instance, one is bound to have some doubts. The huge Bengal tiger there seems as though it could easily rout the lion in the adjoining cage. It is not likely that zoo authorities ever indulge in a test to find this out, and I would not care myself to dispute with any lion its right to be called king of beasts. Appearances could be held to bely the claim however.

One cannot examine in detail a football lion; he is too muffled up, but here one can appraise the physical features of these two rivals for jungle supremacy. That the lion is a powerful brute goes without saying, one swipe of his paw and yours truly would vanish into the limbo; but it is a latent rather than an obvious strength. Compared to the tiger it appears to suffer from tired blood. The tiger, on the other hand, is the very embodiment of lithe, ferocious movement, the like of which would make any Eastern football invader think twice before entering Empire Stadium.

In addition seems to me that I have read that the lion is not all it is cracked up to be; and that in fact it can be, sometimes anyway, a rather sneaky creature which is not above deeming discretion the better part of valor. If this does injustice to all those national rampant lions I apologize, but one can never imagine a tiger as other than a full-fronted animal ready to spring.

I do not imply for a moment that the Vancouver Lions ever put discretion before valor, but for the sake of good old B.C. I wish they'd emulate the tiger. The postcard lions are all against them, I admit, and perhaps the atmosphere of Vancouver too. But there's an election campaign coinciding with the football season. There should be enough rampant utterances to enliven the atmosphere during the next few weeks and it might be catching; it might induce the Lions to be really rampant.

Reports from Ottawa

THE new Liberal defence policy, the policy that Lester Pearson presumably will implement if he becomes prime minister, reflects Canadian reaction against the recently tougher military posture of the United States in the resumed cold war.

A year ago, as Defence Minister Pearson was quick to point out, Pearson advocated equipping NATO forces, including those of Canada, with tactical nuclear weapons. His thinking then was that if war were forced onto the Western allies they should have the most effective tactical weapons available for defence.

Now Pearson would have Canada and the other smaller NATO countries up to and including West Germany eschew nuclear arms. Pearson maintains that to tell the Americans to keep their atomic arms would not be cutting off NATO's nose to spite its face. He contends that tactical nuclear weapons are not what they were cracked up to be; that they discourage the smaller countries from maintaining adequate conventional forces, and that they present a serious fallout hazard.

Over many months Pearson's criticism of unilateral U.S. control of NATO's nuclear arms has been evidence of a distrust of the rational quality of U.S. leadership that has certainly not decreased since the collapse of the summit conference. His proposal to boycott nuclear arms is in significant contrast to a recent tendency among some Americans to talk about winning a nuclear war, a notion generally rejected in Canada and many other countries in favor of the belief that in a nuclear war both sides would lose and civilization might well be destroyed.

In Canada all parties agree that nuclear war must be avoided at all costs. That is why the government has striven so mightily for the success—now seemingly unattainable—of the 10-power disarmament talks at Geneva.

Normally "at all costs" is a hyperbole, an exaggeration for effect. Pearson gives it literal application, as evidenced by his statement in a TV broadcast this spring that he would prefer to live under a dictatorship than die in a nuclear war. Now he would forego the maintenance of military forces for the defence of Canadian territory, Canadian forces in Europe would continue, under the Pearson policy, to be committed to NATO, but the prime function of the rest—those in Canada—would be to serve the United Nations on peace-keeping missions anywhere in the world.

Under the Pearson plan the junior partner wouldn't wholly withdraw from the continental defence partnership. The RCAF would continue to man existing radar stations and to fly identification intercepts. But that's all. Actual defence, and the establishment of additional defence installations in Canada, would become the sole responsibility of the U.S.

The Pearson plan is thus about half way towards cold war neutrality. From Pearson's premise—that it is no longer valid to talk of national and continental defence—Pearson's radical veer away from U.S. thinking and planning makes good sense. If Canada were to latch onto the UN in the way he advocates, it might start a snowball downhill that would grow into a UN army strong enough to give pause even to the great powers.

And incidentally (co—or not), the plan also makes good political sense for the Liberal Party. Prime Minister Diefenbaker won his elections partly by playing to Canadian fears of economic domination by the U.S. The Pearson program rejects continued military and political domination by the U.S., and thus may be expected to have considerable voter appeal.

Getting Into Politics

By GREGORY CLARK

HOW do we get our politicians? How does a public man originate? When we consider how few of us would dare venture into the public arena, and how almost universal amongst us is our apathy towards public concerns, the question of how we come by our rulers is most interesting.

Many of our politicians are lawyers. A correct and ethical way for a lawyer to advertise himself is to enter public life deliberately, as a member of a school board or an alderman, gradually advancing through the ranks of politics to provincial or federal rating. Other lawyers I have known got into public life through professional pressure. They attended—as lawyers representing certain clients or interests—public meetings. And their behavior or performance there caught the eye of party chiefs, who came to them with offers of support if they would stand for public office.

But a great many of our public men entered public life through country or city municipal office which they got involved in because their neighbors persuaded them to be their spokesmen and champion in some local crisis of taxation or other outrage.

There has doubtless been a survey, at some time or other, of how and why our public men got into politics. If there is, I don't know of it. But it would be a most interesting survey for some institute to undertake right about now, when so much is at stake in the world; and our leaders are leading.

Snakes and Toads

This New Diplomacy

By CASSANDRA, from London

THERE'S a new and strange type of diplomacy afoot.

Heads of state have for centuries showered gifts on each other ranging from jewelled caskets and gold plate to slaves and white Arab steeds.

Now the mood has changed. Khrushchev revived it during his many global junkets and distributed many small baby bears—no doubt as a symbol of the cuddly nature of the Soviet Union.

Then in December, 1959, he sent by special airplane to Washington a consignment of 40 rare Russian shrubs and trees for President Eisenhower.

These, he said, were "a token of gratitude" for the hospitality he had received during his visit to the United States.

Now Ike has picked up the theme and has just sent a load of gifts by air to General de Gaulle.

I don't know what Eisenhower thinks of the French president, but among the grotesque assortment of creatures there was a rattlesnake, a porcupine (de Gaulle has been prominent in the prickly business all his life), an assortment of alligators, toads, frogs and prairie dogs.

Inexplicably missing from this zoological agglomeration were black-widow spiders, plague rats, giant sting-rays, skunks, adders, squids, vampires and leeches.

Maybe, however, these are being reserved for a future delicate compliment from the Pentagon to the Kremlin.

Fidel Mossadeq

THE preposterous Fidel Castro of Cuba becomes more and more like the lunatic Mossadeq of Abadan.

Mossadeq talked and talked. Castro thinks nothing of a terse, monosyllabic address on television lasting four hours.

Mossadeq ran his government from bed in between fits of ill health and tears.

Castro seems permanently sick and only rises from his couch to make menacing speeches such as he did over a recent weekend when his own fulminations were too much for him on the platform and he had to be persuaded by his friends to desist.

Both in their time have been experts at the art of confiscation, which the less discreet call daylight robbery.

Castro has just stolen $750,000,000 of United States property in Cuba as well as pinching British and American oil refineries.

Mossadeq came to a ludicrous political end. So will Castro.

Military Objectives

I WAS amused, but not very, that three British post-graduate students, who have just spent a year at Leningrad University, have been caught by the Soviet authorities taking pictures of "military objectives" and may be expelled. I happen to know something about this.

A "military objective," in the eyes of the Soviet authorities, is any soldier in military dress.

Doesn't matter who.

Doesn't matter where.

Another one is any civil aircraft in any Soviet airport—let alone the MIGs, The Tupolev 104 and the Ilyushin-18, both wonderful planes, in-fact every major Russian airport, but they are completely forbidden for the picture boys.

Nor can you photograph ships. Take a photograph of some squalid dredger in a harbor on the Black Sea, and, by Lenin, you've had it.

Any excuse in the USSR is good enough.

I COMMENTED to attention Dr. Dave Van Ness who lives in Saskatchewan, in Canada. He belongs to A. P. Herbert's world of Misleading Cases.

Mr. Ness was charged with disturbing a religious gathering and was prosecuted by members of the Apostolic Church in Hudson Bay.

The pastor said that Ness interrupted services by saying: "Praise the Lord" and "Amen."

Before he testified Mr. Ness insisted in leading the court in prayer so that they might have divine guidance in their deliberations.

He was acquitted.

Personally I like it when "Praise the Lord" spoken in the House of God is legally certified as okay.

Food and Drug Chief Addresses Druggists

SASKATOON (CP)—Canada's chief drug inspector says there is a greater danger of "ineffectual" or "over-potent" drugs when the consumer disregards brand names and buys drugs by their chemical name.

C. A. Morrell, of Ottawa, head of food and drug directorate, department of national health and welfare, made this reply when asked his opinion on the public buying drugs under generic names rather than brand names to save money.

"You must remember price is not my business," Mr. Morrell said. "My job is the safety and purity of drugs. Therefore on the question of the quality of drugs; there is undoubtedly greater danger of ineffectual drugs and over-potent drugs in the products of manufacturers who have no adequate control systems."

Court Kills Summonses Of Jack Paar, Kennedy

DETROIT (AP)—A U.S. district court Monday quashed the service of summonses of Jack Paar and Robert F. Kennedy in a $2,500,000 libel suit brought by Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa.

Judge Theodore Levin held with Paar and Kennedy that they had been improperly served outside the state of Michigan. The court ruled on a question of jurisdiction.

Judge Levin ordered a hearing for Sept. 19 on a motion to quash from the third dependant, the National Broadcasting Company.

The case against Paar and Kennedy still stands. However, the practice of most courts is to dismiss cases if proper service is not made within a reasonable length of time.

Ups and Downs of Salmon Fishing

One good 25-pound nine-ounce spring salmon was good for three prizes to Vic Holman, civilian employee at HMCS Naden. Holman held three derby tickets, in the RCN Anglers' Association; ANAF Retarded Children's and Britannia Branch Canadian Legion and this McKenzie Bay-caught beauty won all three. Prizes were two outboard motors and cash. Vic's son, Vic Jr., won junior prize in RCN derby, held in Saanich Inlet Sunday. (Colonist photo.)

Obviously none too happy about his catch—or rather the lack of same—is nine-year-old Grenville Finch-Noyes. Taking part in Sunday's RCN Anglers' Association derby at Saanich Inlet, he had this grudge almost up to the boat when a dog-fish decided it was lunch time. The young fisherman is the son of Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, recently appointed Flag Officer, Pacific Coast. (RCN photo.)

Sandown Racing Agreement Near

VANCOUVER (CP)—Operators of Sandown race track at Sidney, Randall brothers' Ascot Jockey Club, conferred with the executive of the B.C. Horsemen's Association Monday night and it appeared certain that a fall racing season at Sandown will be held. Len Lucas of the horsemen's association said there was only a matter of about $200 a day between the operators and the horsemen.

He said the track operators had offered a minimum purse of $500, compared with the $550 minimum in effect last season on the island.

The horsemen's association will meet and give the operators a decision by Thursday.

If an agreement is reached, the race meet will be held Sept. 17-Oct. 10.

Jackie Parker Big Spark As Esks Beat Lions, 33-14

EDMONTON—Jackie Parker, seldom less than brilliant, is absolutely devastating against the kind of defence the B.C. Lions showed the 17,500 fans who showed up Monday night to watch the Edmonton Eskimos make their 1960 Western Inter-Provincial Football Union start with a 33-14 win.

Lions, who showed an imaginative offence directed by quarterback Randy Duncan and as good a halfback combination as there is in Canadian football in sophomore Willie Fleming and rookie Bob Jeter, just didn't have an answer for Parker.

The peerless Edmonton leader tossed touchdown passes to Joe-Bob Smith in the first quarter and to Johnny Bright in the second quarter. Then, moving to a halfback spot with Don Getty at the controls, Parker caught two touchdown passes in the last half.

His first catch came late in the third quarter with the ball scrimmaged on the B.C.

50-yard line. Parker took the pass on the 35 and then left at least five would-be tacklers pawing empty-handed as he uncorked a spectacular run to go the rest of the way.

STEPS ACROSS Early in the fourth quarter, with play 36 yards out, Parker got in behind the green defensive backfield, took the ball one yard out and stepped across.

Edmonton's final touchdown came with five minutes left when Baz Nagle fumbled trying to run back a punt and lineman Don Stevenson snapped up the loose ball to go 15 yards for the score.

Parker kicked two converts to start defence of his scoring title, with a 14-point performance.

OVERSHADOWED It was only on defence that the Lions were overshadowed. They moved the ball well against the tough Edmonton defence, actually had a 21-19 edge in first downs.

It might have been closer but for a go-for-broke decision made by Lions early in the third quarter when they were trailing by only 7-14 and a costly fumble by Jeter, a stand-out otherwise.

After a stumbling start which saw their defences riddled by Parker's passing and the score go to 14-1, the Lions came back steadily with an attack which caused Eskimos no end of worry. It featured such things as Fleming and Jeter both tossing forward passes and, in the late stages with victory but a dim hope, some fine pass patterns with Duncan doing some fine throwing.

GOT CLOSE Lions got close late in the second quarter, Jeter starting a march with a punt return which took the ball to the Edmonton 30. Eight plays later, and despite an offside penalty after a seven-yard gain by Fleming, the Lions scored. Key play was a nine-yard pass from Fleming to Jeter.

The Lions got under way again at the start of the third quarter, marching from their own 28 to the Edmonton five. There, in a third-down situation, they dismanned a field goal try to gamble on a touchdown. Duncan had his pass knocked down.

A few minutes later with the Lions again on the march, Jeter fumbled on the Edmonton 32. Five plays later Parker got his first touchdown. Two minutes later he got his second major score.

After that, Duncan took to the air and a 16-yarder to Bill Herron and a 27-yarder to Fleming after an Edmonton fumble put the ball on the one-yard line. It took three plays before Don Vico rammed it over. There were about 8½ minutes left but Nagle's fumble ended all hope.

Lions made about 100 of their 168 passing yards after dropping behind by 7-26, completing 11 of 15 passes in the second half.

CALGARY — Calgary's brand-new McMahon Stadium was officially opened Monday night but Winnipeg's hard-running, tough-tackling Bombers spoiled the occasion for 20,450 fans and Calgary Stampede.

Piling up yardage on the ground with halfbacks Leo Lewis and Carver Shannon and fullbacks Charlie Shepard and Gerry James proving a potent ball-carrying quartet, the defending Western Inter-Provincial Football Union champions blasted the Stampede, 38-23.

Stampede grabbed a 15-7 lead in the first quarter, still had a 15-14 lead at half-time, but could not contain the

Winnipeg attack in the last two quarters.

It was the second win in two games for the Grey Cup champions, who have more than balanced the unusually high, for them, total of 44 points against by piling up 73.

Against Winnipeg's better-balanced attack, the Stampede had only the passing of sophomore-quarterback Joe Kapp.

Kapp was almost sensational as he completed 21 of 33 passes for 393 air yards. He did it in spite of being continually rushed by the Winnipeg defensive line. However, Winnipeg tackling was so sure and so hard that Stampede receivers fumbled five times with Bombers gaining possession each time.

Bombers had a bit of fumbly themselves, messing up plays four times and losing the ball three times. Linemen Herb Gray of Winnipeg and Don Luzzi of Calgary each picked up fumbles for touchdowns.

End Ernie Pitts, James, rookie-end Curt Merz and Lewis scored the other Winnipeg touchdowns. James had a field goal and a single, Shannon made only two converts and got a single point on an attempted field goal, and Shepard ended the scoring with a headline kick.

Halfback Gene Filipki and end Ernie Warlick got the other Calgary touchdowns with Doug Brown converting all three touchdowns and getting two singles.

bad day last night by powering his club back atop the American League standings.

Mantle, who hadn't hit a home run for 17 games, slammed two out of Yankee Stadium, each with a teammate aboard, to give the Yankees a 4-3 win over Baltimore Orioles.

After falling to run out a hopper down the third-base line, which was turned into an inning-ending double play in a game which the Yankees lost in the 15th inning, Mantle was unceremoniously taken out of the lineup by an irate Stengel.

"I'm sick of watching him not run," Stengel fumed to reporters after the game. "There's no excuse for it unless a man is hurt and then he should come to me and tell me to take him out. Who does he think he is, Superman or something. He can't do that and play here, no matter who he is."

However, with Roger Maris injured in Sunday's double defeat by Washington Senators and the Orioles in town for a crucial series, Stengel had no recourse but to end Mantle's banishment earlier than he might have under different circumstances.

FANS HOOTED Mantle responded to the chance, Boed unmercifully by the 24,233 fans on his first appearance at the plate, he cracked out his 28th home run after Hec Lopez had singled in the fourth inning to tie the score at 2-2.

Then, after the Orioles had taken a 3-2 lead in the top of the eighth, Mantle hit No. 29 for the tying and winning runs.

He got a second chance on that one, too. Clint Courtney, using the huge catcher's mitt designed by Baltimore manager Paul Richards to help in catching Hoyt Wilhelm's knuckleballs, dropped the ball as Mantle popped a high foul. Courtney had no chance the next time Mantle connected. Victory boosted the Yanks.

GOALS

Jack Barclay tallied three goals to lead the New Westminster attack.

Five New Westminster players scored twice. They were Don Sepka, Bill Jobb, Ron Loftus, Ken Oddy and Harold Fox. Doug McRory, Rudy Reisinger and Ivan Stewart added singles.

Jack Bionda once again led Nanaimo's attack with three goals and one assist. Joe White and Gogie Stewart scored twice, with single goals coming from Tom McVie, Don Sherry, Skip Mackay and Don Ashbee.

BIG DIFFERENCE Goal-keeping was the major difference between the teams, particularly in the later stages.

Fred Fulla was able to stop only 18 of 34 New Westminster shots while Les Norman stopped 29 at the other end.

The White Sox were stopped by Bob Bruce, Detroit rookie, who made his first major league victory a 4-1 two-hitter. He yielded only a home-run to Gene Freese and a double to Roy Sievers.

Meanwhile, the White Sox stormed up to tie the Orioles for the lead, as Billy Pierce and Early Wynn beat Kansas City, to allow both runners to cross the plate. Al Kaline hit a two-run homer in the ninth for the final runs.

Sunday saw the Orioles' eight-game win streak come to an end when Boston Red Sox sneaked through, 3-2. Winning run came in the seventh inning on a base on balls, a single by ex-Oriole Willie Tasby and Ted Williams' high infield hopper.

B.C. Golf Scores Zoom Alberta Wins Willingdon

OTTAWA — Alberta won the Willingdon Cup on Monday for the first time in the history of the inter-provincial team golf matches. The margin

Bill Wakeham of Victoria left himself in good position to qualify for match play in the Canadian amateur golf championship yesterday by shooting 38-36-75 in the first of the two qualifying rounds. Laurie Kerr, Victoria's other entry, had 38-43-82.

at the finish of the playoff was 15 strokes over the favored British Columbia team, which was 18 strokes over par.

The two western provinces had finished the 36-hole cup match in a deadlock on Saturday and officials ruled that medal scores turned in during the first 18 holes of the qualifying round in the Canadian amateur would decide the issue.

It was strictly no contest. Bob Wylie, 30-year-old provincial champion from Calgary, led the Albertans to the win, shooting a two-under par 71 in a steady round which included 14 pars, three birdies and one bogey.

Keith Alexander and Eddie Schwartz both had 74 while Nell Green, whose fine finish Saturday gave Alberta a second chance, came in with a 76.

Only Ron Willey of the B.C. team could do better than Green, shooting a 75. Jeroski, who took a horrendous 10 on the par-five 12th hole in Saturday's last Willingdon Cup round to cost B.C. the title, had a 76. Defending Canadian champion Johnny Johnston shot a 77 and Laurie Kerr of Victoria, B.C. amateur champion, was away off form with an 82.

It was a round which could cost Kerr a chance to play for the Canadian championship despite the fact that scores Monday were anything but brilliant over the 6,740-yard Ottawa Hunt Club course, which has yielded to par grudgingly and seldom.

With 63 of the field of 154 shooting 78 or better in the first medal round, the guessing was that 155 or better would be needed to qualify.

Showing the way at the halfway mark of the 36-hole qualifying round was Bill Hyndman, 44-year-old veteran of United States Americas and Walker Cup teams. He broke both his arms in a fall last February.

Hyndman, from Huntingdon Valley, Pa., had six birdies and three bogeys in identical nines of 35 for his three-under-par 70.

Next to Hyndman was Wylie, all alone with his 71. At 72 were Ed Meister, Jr., of Willoughby, Ohio, Mexican champion Juan Estrada and George Stokes, 18-year-old junior from St. Catharines.

Only one other player, Ed MacLaine of Montreal, managed to play par golf or better, shooting a regulation 73. Six players had 74s, 13 stood at 75, eight at 76, 13 at 77 and 17 at 78. Among those at 79 was Peter Hope of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia champion, who didn't get the most out of his hole-in-one on the 162-yard 15th.

The game was played on a 32 overs basis.

Four Victoria and district minor lacrosse teams won their third straight provincial championships Sunday in two-game total-goals series.

A six-goal outburst by Drew Schroeder helped Saanich Tigers to a 9-7 win over Sapperton and the pee wee division championship. Tigers won the first game Saturday, 12-10.

Frank Alexander, Gary Druce and Bill Walton counted their other goals.

In the bantam division, Butler Brothers defeated East Burnaby 13-10 Sunday to go with an 11-10 victory Saturday. Butlers trailed 7-10 going into the fourth quarter but rapped in six fast ones to win.

Tej Dhillon scored five goals, Don McNeill three, Ron Zilkie two, and Steve Major, Tom Churchill and Jerry Baines one apiece.

New Westminster juvenile B's won 10-8 Sunday but Butler juveniles from Saanich had taken a 20-7 lead Saturday so won the series on an aggregate basis. Butler marksmen

Sunday were Glen Vickers, Nirmal Dhillon, Ranjet Dhillon and Meva Sundher, all with two goals each.

Saanich Employees juvenile A's and New Westminster tied 8-8 but Employees won the series on the strength of an 11-5 Saturday win.

Dave Collett and Rex Vickers, with two goals each, led Saanich while Mal Spotswood, Al Targat, Steve Merriam and Ray Beach got one each.

If you are vacationing near Saratoga Beach, midway between Courtenay and Campbell River, drop in and see Claude Jouan, who has built up a little wildlife preserve on his private property and welcomes visitors.

Take the first turn to the right as you start out on the half-mile side road to Saratoga Beach. At the end of the turning you will come to a fine home, with a machine shop attached. This is Claude Jouan's house and just a' back of it, he has dug out a small lake he uses as an irrigation pond.

Arrange to get there in late afternoon, and you will see at least six beavers swimming around the pond. They have become fairly tame and will swim up to have a look at you ... and if they don't like you, will slap their tails on the water and dive with a big splash, and then repeat the process over and over.

Sometimes the beavers come right out of the water and up on Mr. Jouan's patio. In fact they have chewed off all his prize roses. The beavers' homes are in the bank. There were 12 beavers, but Mr. Jouan fears someone has trapped six of them.

Muskrat, otter and mink also use the pond and sometimes the beavers and otters fight, with the beavers usually winning.

Mr. Jouan describes himself as "just a nature lover who treats all wildlife kindly." On his 135 acres of property he has friendly deer, a raccoon which visits the house every night and eats from his hand, and sometimes sees bear. Ducks and geese use the pond and in the winter Mr. Jouan throws the pond open to neighborhood youngsters for skating.

The reservation of campsites is the latest trend in camping, says Jack Finnerty of Saratoga Beach. He says it is becoming common practice for people to pick out one special campsite and phone a week or so in advance to reserve it for their vacation. If they haven't picked a special one, they leave the choice to camp operators, but specify what they want. Sometimes groups of three or four families reserve a camping area in one location so they can all be together.

Camping units now have to be built larger than they have been in past years. About one in four campers has a trailer boat, and in most cases they like to keep it near their tent. In some camps there are special provisions made for parking and care of the bigger trailer boats.

A new sideline which is building up in camping this year is the provision of ice. Ice chests, which appeared on the market this year at a price everyone can afford, are becoming increasingly popular. Some camps with large freezers make their own ice, either as cubes or solid in cellophane bags or milk cartons and sell it to campers. One group of youngsters, near the Comox RCAF Station, is doing a roaring summer business selling ice to vacationers.

Deadline for qualifiers to purchase tickets for the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association ladder-derby fishoff next Sunday has been extended until tonight. They may be obtained from Stan Williams at 1225 Government Street.

If any of the close to 400 anglers who qualified during the 10-week qualifying period fail to pick up their fish-off tickets some anglers who where knocked off the weekly ladders after weighing in a salmon will get a chance to fish in the fish-off.

Main fishing prize Sunday is a seven-day stay for two at the Laguna Inn at Laguna Beach, Calif. It includes first-class air transportation, $15 a day for meals, the use of a 1960 car for the stay and accommodation at the inn. Main hidden-weight prize is an all-expenses trip, including tickets, for the 1960 Grey Cup game.

There are a large number of other prizes, including an electric sewing machine for second prize and a portable sewing machine, donated by the Saanich Inlet Boatmen's Association, for third prize.

Garden Notes

Just Like a Sandwich

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One question I get thrown at me fairly often is when to start a new lawn. Actually, a lawn may be sown either in spring or early fall, and personally, I believe there are several solid advantages in doing the job in early September rather than in the spring.

For one thing, the heavier types of soil hereabouts are sloppy wet in the spring and, by the time the ground has dried out enough to undertake the heavy preparation required for a good seed bed, our summer drought period is just around the corner, and that isn't good for the establishing of the new lawn. In late summer, the soil is in grand condition for digging or rototating and, even if daytime temperatures should soar, the nights are cool and the heavy dew we get in September is a big help to vigorous germination of lawn grass seed.

Just as in building a house, the foundation is all-important in the construction of a good lawn and, only too often, this work is skimped. Mother gets fed up to the teeth with Junior tromping mud into the house from the bare dirt outside and needles Dad until he starts scattering seed around long before the seed bed is anywhere near ready.

Making a lawn site is something like making a sandwich—you put it together in three layers.

The bottom slice of bread in the sandwich is the basic soil around the house. This may be sticky clay or dead and infertile subsoil thrown up from the excavation for the house foundation but, no matter how poor it is, your first job is to rake it and roll it as carefully as if you were working with the most expensive purchased topsoil. Make it as firm and as level as a billiard table or, better still if the site permits, make it sloping very gently away from the house, with a slope not steeper than one in 50.

The top slice of bread is a layer of all the good topsoil you can afford. We'll spread this over the site in just a minute, but first we have to put the meat in the sandwich.

The sandwich filling, lying between the bottom slice of dead subsoil and the top slice of good topsoil, is a mixture of the two. Spread a one-inch layer of topsoil over the prepared site and mix it in shallowly, just scuffing it in with a rake or with the Dutch hoe. Then run the lawn roller over it.

Now we can spread the bulk of the topsoil and, for a decent lawn, you'll need a layer at least three inches thick, and five inches would be a lot better. This top layer isn't scuffed in, but should be made level and very firm.

This work involves raking and rolling, raking and rolling, over and over again until you are sick and tired of the job, then test it.

The test is simply to walk all over it and observe your footprints—they should be shallow and all the same depth. Any soft spots where the prints are deeper will sink later, causing a depression where puddles will lie and where moss will get started. When the site is evenly firm, give it one last raking, then go ahead and sow your seed.

Let's go back to the meat in the sandwich for a moment—I'd like to explain the importance of that intermediate layer of mixed subsoil and topsoil.

This sandwich filling "tapers" the fertility gradually downward and in effect coaxes the grass roots to enter the uninviting subsoil. Without it, the soil lies in sharply defined layers and the lawn refuses to "marry" the soil. I have seen lawns like this that, where the grass could be rolled up like a carpet, the root penetration was so poor. Such a lawn looks like death warmed over in hot, dry weather.

The Viewing World

Drip, Drip Into Little Minds

Turning the set back on after a month of almost total relief from the cumulative idiocy of television I was greeted by: "Roloids! Each particle contains forty-seven times its own weight in excess stomach acid. Result: It slows the drip, drip, drip of stomach acid." It was a wonderfully appropriate welcome back to the drip, drip, drip of television which is almost exactly the same action.

The same evening I watched a couple of hoodlums on "The Untouchables" machine gun a young girl. She was running right at the camera at the time and the hoodlums machine gunned her in the back so that you got the full action like a blow in the face.

They have wonderfully interesting ways of killing girls on this show. Killing men is kid stuff. No one does that any more. I'm indebted to the "Saturday Evening Post" for the information that the hoodlums on "The Untouchables" once gunned down 20 prostitutes lined up in a road—bang, bang, bang—like that.

That leads me to another vagrant thought. I encounter more and more people who tell me they don't look at television but they read about it. Are we getting to the point where television, columnists can't bear to look at television and are forced to read about it in "The Saturday Evening Post"?

Did Pete Martin, who wrote the "Post" piece see that incident or did someone else tell him about it? Who looks at bread-and-butter television? Well, kids do. And, I suppose, people do. But those responsible don't.

Do you really think executives at NBC (which is saddled with the dreadful thing) really looked at the 25th episode of "Riverboat"? Do you suppose writers, directors, producers, or actors look at it? Do you even suppose the sponsors sit through it? Don't be silly.

When I first became a radio columnist back in the pre-television days, I found it passing strange that so few people who earned their living in it knew what was on the radio. Radio columnists rarely listened except perhaps Sunday nights. We are headed back into the same situation for almost the same reason.

In America no responsible people look at television. And by nobody, I mean nobody—no clergy, no press, no advertisers, no network executives, no Senators, nobody. Nobody but people. When you have a vast conglomeration of leaderless people, you have a mob. And when you have a mob, the best place to aim is the groin which is exactly where most of the high-rated television shows aim.

"The Untouchables" is not only the worst show on television; it is the worst show that was ever on television in its inglorious fourteen-year history. It's a national disgrace, that show, and the only reason it hasn't caused any popular outcry is that television has long since been abandoned by decent people to children of all ages.

In its survey of TV columnists and critics, the Fund for the Republic pointed out that, of all the people who wrote about television, the late John Lardner in occasional pieces for "The New Yorker" was virtually the only person who viewed and wrote about and tried to analyze intelligently the bread-and-butter television (which is to say "Father Knows Best" in its unimpeachable year).

Lardner could view the good guys fighting the bad guys with the warm-hearted scientific curiosity of an entomologist looking at an ant hill. But he's, alas, gone. I'm going to inflict bread-and-butter television on myself these next few months but I can't be detached about it. I get damned angry.

I have here a letter from a mother that ought to be tattooed on Desi Arnaz's chest for perpetrating "The Untouchables." Says this outraged woman:

"I am trying to teach my children Christian precepts. I am trying to teach them that violence breeds violence, and that we are distinguished from animals by our faculties of reasoning, and our love of our fellows. These things must be repeated over and over and even so it takes years before children truly believe for themselves.

TV is systematically drilling into them: (1) Think only of yourself. (2) Never think before you speak. (3) Authority—parents, teachers, church, police, any authority—is a dope. (4) In any argument, use a weapon, not your brains, common sense, or respect for others."

This mother is simply repeating—though she almost certainly isn't aware of it—what George Bernard Shaw said of our movies almost 40 years ago. In America, Shaw said, the solution to all problems is a punch on the jaw. That fixes everything—a punch on the snout. But that was long ago. Now we have the machine gun and those 20 prostitutes on a road. Drip, drip, drip, into the little minds. Hours and hours of violence.

Just a couple of weeks ago, there was a headline: "Juvenile delinquency" increases by 175 per cent. Why not? We teach juvenile delinquency on television. Sponsored.

Hollywood Abroad

Steiger Makes It Pay

PARIS—Two weeks in Venice can go very fast, and here I am in Paris with news from London, Hollywood, Rome and—Paris of course... and Ireland, where Rod Steiger received $75,000 for two and a half weeks work in "The Mark." Over there they think of him as a "plump Barry Fitzgerald."

Suzie Parker is dashing between London and Paris. In the former city, Suzie has just completed, "Circle of Deception" with Brad Dillman for 20th Century-Fox. And refusing to pose for any photographs that will adorn magazine covers. Most stars willingly give five years of their lives for this. But Suzie is still under exclusive contract to that fashion magazine. Suzie looks forward to the day when she can put her modelling in the ashcan.

Princess Grace introduced an American backyard custom to the court in Monaco. She gave a barbecue in the house in the hills above her kingdom, to some of the aristocratic subjects of Prince Rainier. It was quite something to see the dowagers and dukes stuffing themselves with hot dogs and hamburgers.

Peter Sellers will make three more pictures for 20th Century-Fox following "The Millionaire," which gets a royal premiere in October in London for the British Overseas Union. 20th has 21 pictures to be made in Europe during the next few months.

I'm not sure how Marilyn Monroe and Yves Montand will react to this, but in England, Frankie Vaughan's name is above the title of "Let's Make Love," alongside Marilyn and Montand. In the States he is under the title. But in England Frankie is a bigger star and better known than Frenchman Yves.

Madame Montand—Oscar winner Simone Signoret, by the way, will be starring with Glenn Ford for Jimmy Woolf at Warners in Hollywood. In Jimmy's first production for them, "The Devil in Buck's County," And I for one do not believe there is any trouble in the marriage of the Montands. Rumor had him romancing a certain blonde charmer. Even if he had been, I doubt whether this would have broken up his marriage with Simone. In matters of this kind, the French usually shrug, and murmur, "que voulez-vous?"

Bulletin from Hollywood. In September, Bob Hope will tape a TV show with Fatti Page. "I couldn't get James Garner because of his fight with Warners. We will do a TV version of "Of Thee I Sing," with Wally Cox or Buddy Hackett." on his second show, Perry Como and Ginger Rogers.

Actor Michael Wager, discussing Madrid with Siobhan McKenna, "it crinkles with sex." So that's the indefinable feeling in the air?

Miyoshi Umeki, the cute little Japanese actress who won an Academy Award for her role in "Sayonara," is back in Hollywood to co-star with Glenn Ford in "Cry For Happy." Film is about a group of GIs who take over a Nipponese Geisha house.

One scene called for Miyoshi to give Donald O'Connor a bath. She was embarrassed to do the scene in front of the large group on the set, so Director George Marshall ordered everyone not directly involved in the scene to leave.

One gentleman put up a mild protest. He requested permission to stay since he was a close personal friend of Miyoshi's and had been invited to the set by her. "No dice," ordered Director Marshall, so he went out with the rest.

At the lunch break, Marshall met Miyoshi dining with the young man. "I'd like you to meet my husband, Win Ople," she said.

Pollution Level

Prospect Cleanest

Pollution level at Prospect Lake, criticized at a recent meeting of Saanich council, is far below the pollution level of other swimming lakes in the municipality.

Regular tests conducted at all swimming areas throughout Saanich by medical health officer Dr. A. N. Beattie showed a pollution count of only 13 at Prospect Lake on July 28.

Pollution count at Elk Lake's northwest beach and at Glen Lake on the same day was 920. Danger point is taken at 1,000 for swimming.

However, Dr. Beattie added, all lake water should be boiled before drinking.

Broad Street

Scurrah Cool To Mall

Mayor Percy Scurrah does not think much of the idea of turning Broad Street into a long pedestrian shopping mall interrupted only by the cross-streets, he made clear yesterday.

The idea has been put forward by the civic affairs group of the Chamber of Commerce, which is seeking the approval of Chamber directors.

It was mentioned in passing in city council finance committee yesterday, and the mayor jumped on it.

"To put it on a third-rate street and hope the owners will improve their places just doesn't make sense," he said. "Who's going to spend the money for the improvement? There's nothing to attract people there, not a thing."

More British Immigrants Than Italian

OTTAWA (CP)—The flow of British immigrants to Canada now is running ahead of Italian arrivals for the first time since 1957, the immigration department reported yesterday.

Statistics issued by the department showed that 12,438 immigrants of British origin arrived in Canada in the first six months of 1960, compared with 10,817 in the corresponding period of 1959. In the same period Italian arrivals totalled 11,902, down from 15,354 a year ago.

$200 Olympic Donation To Be Urged on Council

Finance committee yesterday voted to recommend to city council today that it donate $200 to the fund to send Canadian athletes—including five Victorians—to the Olympic Games.

The committee also suggested that the Thunderbird All Girls' Drum Corps, which may be displaced from the old Yates Street firehall this fall by a branch of the Boys' Clubs of Canada, look into the possibility of using the old Victoria West firehall.

Decided to pay $800 of a

$709 luncheon bill from the Empress Hotel incurred in entertaining visitors on the inaugural trip of the new government ferry service, and to leave the rest to the government. "That's all we agreed to go in for," said Mayor Percy Scurrah.

$300,000 Building Plan Moves Ahead—Slightly

Special Fund

Jobs Safe In Saanich

The spectre of wholesale staff cuts to save $15,000 in the final six months of this year has been removed from Saanich municipal employees. Saanich finance committee meeting May 5 to consider the 1960 budget commissioned Reeve George Chatterton and Comptroller-treasurer John Tribe to find how staff could be chopped to save $15,000.

At last night's meeting of the finance committee Reeve Chatterton and Mr. Tribe reported that any reduction in staff would mean a corresponding reduction in service to the public.

Instead, they suggested that if the municipality has any trouble in paying its staff it should take the money out of a special fund set aside to buy a new ambulance, the loan to be repaid next year.

In Esquimalt

Rink Plan Underway Wednesday

A special meeting of Esquimalt council will be held behind closed doors Wednesday night to speed up construction of a $400,000 ice sheet and sports arena in the municipality.

The meeting was called following Saturday's poll when 69 per cent of the Esquimalt ratepayers who voted, expressed favor of the scheme. Next regular meeting of Esquimalt council is slated for Monday night. Reeve A. C. Wurtele announced the special meeting would be called immediately after the final votes were counted Saturday night.

Reeve Wurtele pointed out last night that 46.6 per cent of Esquimalt voters cast ballots at the polls Saturday.

The sum of $80 in cash was stolen from a city home during the weekend. Banno Korte, 3099 Albany, told city police yesterday that the money, in $20 bills, and a bank book had been stolen from the freezer compartment of the refrigerator at his home some time since Friday evening.

Collusion Charges Ridiculous—Bennett

Opposition charges of collusion between the provincial government and the Public Utilities Commission in setting a Sept. 4 public hearing on the status of the Pacific Northern Railway were shrugged off yesterday by Premier Bennett.

"Ridiculous, just ridiculous," the premier said at a press conference here. "It shows how immature are the leaders of the opposition parties. It shows they are not ready to run a government."

"They might at least have checked before making all these wild stories."

Following a storm of criticism from opposition party leaders and particularly from CCF leader Robert Strachan, who made the collusion charge, the PUC last week postponed the hearing to Oct. 4, well beyond the Sept. 12 election.

Lone Battle

Civic Site Approval By Vote?

Fighting a lonely battle against Saanich council's plans to build a $1,000,000 civic centre on a 33-acre site bordered on two sides by Douglas Street and Swan Lake, Coun. Leslie Passmore fired another shot last night.

Following a public hearing into a rezoning application for land adjoining the 33-acre site, he gave notice that at Monday night's council meeting he will move that council seek the approval of voters to the plan in December.

Coun. Passmore's main objection to the scheme appears to be that council has decided in favor of it and is expropriating the land needed before the scheme has been approved by ratepayers.

During last night's public hearing Coun. Passmore called for a public vote on whether or not the civic centre scheme should be continued.

Bennett to Speak Here August 26

Premier Bennett will address an election rally in the Royal Theatre here Friday, Aug. 26, after opening his campaign with a speech at Fort St. John next Monday.

First week's schedule of what will be a province-wide, three-week campaign for election of his Social Credit government Sept. 12 was announced by the premier at a press conference here yesterday.

PEACE RIVER
He said the decision to open the government's campaign in the Peace River district was a recognition of the importance B.C.'s developing northland holds for the whole province.

Mr. Bennett leaves Victoria late Friday for Vancouver, where he will open the Pacific National Exhibition the following day. He opens his campaign in Fort St. John Monday with an evening rally at North Peace Senior High School.

ELECTION RALLY
The following night, Tuesday, Aug. 23, he speaks at South Peace Senior High School in Dawson Creek. And on Wednesday he addresses an election rally at the civic centre in Prince George.

The premier returns to Vancouver for the opening of the new Second Narrows Bridge Thursday and is scheduled to make his first election speech in southern B.C. in Victoria Friday night.

Time of the Victoria meeting hasn't finally been settled, a spokesman said, but it will start either at 8 or 8.30 p.m. "Some importance" was attached, the premier said, to the decision to open the government's bid for re-election in the Peace River district. But he declined to say whether he will announce further developments in the northland.

"I'll have something to say," Mr. Bennett said, smiling broadly.

Rezoning Bylaw Authorized

B.C. Telephone Company plans to build a $300,000 administrative centre on a triangular, 4½-acre section of land near Swan Lake received a dubious boost last night.

After a two-hour public hearing into the company's application to rezone the land for light industrial use, council, by four votes to three, approved a motion to rezone the land.

TWO-THIRDS

But, Reeve Chatterton warned the council, the motion only provides for a rezoning bylaw to be prepared. For the bylaw to pass it will require a two-thirds majority—at least five votes in favor.

The motion was passed over strong opposition from council's Advisory Planning Commission, town planner Anthony Parr and Brahm Wiesman, director of the Capital Region planning board.

And despite information from Mr. Parr that the provincial Highways Department is planning an extension of Blanshard Street, through the property in question, to join up with Douglas Street, near Swan Lake.

BLANSHARD EXTENSION
Information about the proposed extension of Blanshard Street was a surprise announcement by Mr. Parr. Provision for the extension has been made in laying out the multi-million dollar shopping centre to be built immediately south of the land B.C. Telephone Co. is seeking.

Plan apparently favored by the location branch of the highways department is for the land to join with Douglas Street at or about the junction of Douglas and Vernon.

The land sought by the B.C. Telephone Co. is just south of that junction.

INDUSTRIAL WEDGE

Opposition to the rezoning application by Mr. Parr and the Advisory Planning Commission was based on the argument that the development would drive an industrial wedge between the huge shopping centre and the site of the proposed $1,000,000 civic centre planned by Saanich council.

Mr. Wiesman was among spectators at the private hearing. Asked by Reeve Chatterton what he felt about the situation, if the civic centre is established, Mr. Wiesman said: "I would say it would be a gross error."

The board also designated Aug. 29, 30 and 31 as pre-registration dates for new pupils at secondary schools.

Election Notebook

Steady Grits Teeth At Liberal Handout

By PETER BRUTON

GRIT IN EYE: Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy may not feel inclined to hand out any more prizes at B.C. fall fairs until the provincial election is over — after what happened at the Mayne Island fair during the weekend.

Mrs. Steacy pulled out the hidden draw prize, noted that the winner was Hugh Heath — Liberal candidate for Nanaimo.

A short time later Mr. Steacy himself had to hand out the "spot" prize. The winner: Mrs. Heath.

Mr. Steacy gritted his teeth and was heard to mutter: "That's all they'll win."

CLEAR OVERHEAD: There will be no election banners in the sky if Victoria city council approves a finance committee recommendation today.

The committee yesterday recommended that a request by two Oak Bay candidates for permission to string election banners across streets in the city near the Victoria-Oak Bay border be rejected.

Seeking permission were Conservative James A. A. George and Liberal Alan Macfarlane.

"Then we would have to let the Victoria candidates do it and the banners would be so thick you could practically walk on them," said Ald. Hugh Ramsay. "It would become completely out of hand, because if you do it for one, it's wide open for everybody."

Time of the Victoria meeting hasn't finally been settled, a spokesman said, but it will start either at 8 or 8.30 p.m. "Some importance" was attached, the premier said, to the decision to open the government's bid for re-election in the Peace River district. But he declined to say whether he will announce further developments in the northland.

"I'll have something to say," Mr. Bennett said, smiling broadly.

Ten runs Saturday and Sunday took Saanich firemen to no major blazes, but cost the department one man.

Robert Sproule, 3130 Frechette, suffered a broken ankle

when thrown from a fire truck by a bump, when the men were responding to a grass fire on Granville.

Fireman Sproule was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital

where he was treated and admitted. His condition yesterday was "fairly good." The fire burned a half-acre of grass and bush.

None of the other Saanich calls were for serious fires.

registration officials expect it to be close to the 900,000 mark. In the last election, in 1956, there were 778,587 names on the voters' lists.

Printers have started work on the lists and their counts of names will be forwarded to the chief electoral officer.

BALLYING CREW: Esquimalt CCF candidate Geoff Mitchell will open his campaign at East Sooke Hall, Wednesday at 8.15 p.m.

Why East Sooke?

"In things political, as East Sooke goes so goes the nation," replies Mr. Mitchell.

CALLING ALL LIBS: Saanich Liberals are apparently finding it a hard job to get someone to stand as a candidate against Social Credit's John Tisdalle.

Insurance man Sid Smith says he will run if he has to; branch president James Gorst is being pressured but won't say one way or the other; and Geoffrey Vantreight was reportedly asked to stand but had to turn it down because he was unable to leave his bulb-planting business.

Nominating convention will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at Liberal headquarters, 1322A Government.

FOREWARNED: Years ago CCF candidate Geoff Mitchell of Esquimalt read how a driver had run over a carton on the road only to learn to his horror that a child had been in the box.

Yesterday he drove over a rise and saw some cartons in the middle of the road.

He stopped.

You guessed it. There was a little girl inside.

DUNCAN—A Victoria resident is in good condition here at King's Daughters' Hospital with a fractured skull received in an accident near Mill Bay Sunday evening that sent five persons to hospital.

Robert Griffiths, Victoria, was injured about 9 p.m. when the car he was driving left the Trans-Canada Highway at Hutchinson Road on a straight stretch while proceeding south.

Also in the car were Darryl D. Cook, Victoria, who received a broken leg; Sarbar Joe Sangh, Victoria, with lacerations, and John Slunka, Victoria, who received minor cuts, and was released after treatment.

Griffiths and Cook had crashed through the windshield of the car that ended in a ditch. Damage to the car was estimated at more than $500.

Boy Taking Army Course

Victoria high school student Raymond Peters will leave in September for a three-year course in the army at Shilo, Manitoba.

Mr. Peters, who has passed army apprentice exams, hopes to take officer training after he completes the course.

Fly Here Saturday At 2 P.M.

Fern Villeneuve saw Victorians yesterday as individuals, but Saturday—if he has a moment to cast his alert blue eyes their way—he'll see them as a blur going past at nearly 500 miles an hour.

Sqdn. Ldr. Villeneuve came to Victoria yesterday in a golden convertible, but Saturday he will come leading the RCAF's famous Golden Hawks.

WON'T SEE MUCH

He won't see much of the spectators along the Beacon Hill waterfront at 2 p.m., he said, because when the Hawks are rushing past in their six Sabres at 50 feet the crowd will be a blur, and when they are doing aerobatics at 400 feet they won't have a fraction of a second for a glance.

And from the top of a loop, sitting upside down in the sky, the Hawks will see the spectators only as tiny dots.

They won't have a chance to look at the spectators from the top of every loop, anyway.

MOST DIFFICULT

The most difficult part of their aerobatic exhibition is the timing of the four-way crossover, the 33-year-old squadron leader said, "but the part that keeps us working hardest is the double loop with a change of formation at the top of the loop."

He made abundantly clear why hard work is involved. When the Sabres are in tight formation, he said, their wings overlap by about 10 feet, and the wing of one is about three feet above the wing of another.

FLY FASTEST

The timing of the crossover is particularly difficult, he said, because the four planes coming in from four different directions have to arrive at the predetermined crossover point simultaneously, and they fly fastest for this part of the display—500 knots, or about 580 miles an hour.

At that speed, Sqdn. Ldr. Villeneuve said, being a second or two off isn't good enough, because a second represents almost 300 yards.

DAILY PERFORMANCE

As well as appearing in Victoria Saturday, the Golden Hawks will give shows at Nanaimo Thursday and Friday at 2 p.m., will visit Coombs Aug. 25 and will give daily performances in conjunction with the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver Aug. 29 to Sept. 3.

WHAT'S COOKING

By LOUISE MOORE

Who wants to eat indoors when you can linger out on your patio or back porch over a tempting and delicious outdoor meal. No food tastes quite so good as that eaten out of doors and if some of the dishes are prepared in advance you are more or less free to enjoy these alfresco meals with your family.

So here is an idea for a complete outdoor buffet I am sure every one will enjoy.

CHICKEN BUFFET WITH PAKISTAN-STYLE RICE

Prepare approximately 2 lbs. of chicken pieces — breasts, legs or whatever you favor. Wash the pieces in cold water if necessary and drain and dry. Put into a paper bag, ½ cup flour, ½ tsp. paprika — more if you wish — ½ tsp. salt. Drop in the chicken pieces and shake well until each piece of chicken is well coated with the flour mixture.

HEAVY PAN

Place coated chicken carefully in a heavy frying pan that has ¼ cup cooking oil heated until piping hot. About 3 minutes at high heat — then it should be right to add the chicken pieces. Brown on all sides at medium heat for about 10 min. Heat oven to moderate (350). Cover frying pan and cook for 20 minutes at low heat. Remove chicken to an oven dish and bake in oven for 20 minutes or until chicken is fork tender.

PAKISTAN-STYLE RICE

Add 1½ tsp. salt to 2 cups boiling water and bring it to a full rolling boil. Pour in 1 cup rice and add 1 or 2 cinnamon sticks. Cover with tight fitting cover, turn heat down to low and cook for 14 minutes.

Meanwhile saute 1 cup peanuts in 2 tbsp. heated oil. Remove from pan and drain on paper towel. Saute 1 medium onion finely chopped or use ½ tsp. onion salt and when cooking time for rice is complete remove from heat and gently stir in 2 tsp. dried parsley, ½ tsp. black pepper, ½ tsp. curry powder with a fork. Serve hot with fried chicken. If a sauce is desired a mushroom sauce would be perfect.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

Saute ½ lb. sliced mushrooms in heated oil. Mix in 1 tsp. cornstarch and ½ tsp. salt. Gradually add 1 cup light cream or milk and cook stirring until smooth and no taste of starch apparent.

SUMMER SALAD WITH SESAME SEED DRESSING

Saute ½ cup sesame seeds in 1 tbsp. butter or margarine until lightly browned. Reserve some of the seeds for garnish. Remove from heat and add ¼ cup grated parmesan cheese. Blend 1 cup commercial sour cream, ½ cup mayonnaise, 1 tbsp. tarragon vinegar until smooth; add 1 tbsp. sugar, 1 tsp. salt, dash pepper and dash garlic powder. Mix well.

Tear 2 heads lettuce in bite size pieces into salad bowl and add ¼ cup diced cucumber, ½ cup green pepper shreds and 2 tbsp. minced onion. Toss with dressing and sprinkle with the remaining sesame seeds. Makes about 10 servings.

Children are keen competitors in the Fall Fair at Mayne Island which was held on Saturday in the community hall. A group of young exhibitors, pictured here are, Donna Morson, left, Lesley Ross, Diane Arnold and Julie Hall. Diane won the F. J. Dodds cup for the most points in the children's section. Last year's winner was Donna Morson. Julie Hall lives on Mayne Island and the other three girls are summer residents.

Mrs. Bennett Top Winner At Mayne Island Fair

Mrs. F. J. Bennett of Mayne Island won the Foster Cup, plus a free trip to Vancouver for two, for gaining the most points in the Mayne Island Fall Fair held on Saturday.

W. W. Hunt-Sowery won the Bank of Montreal shield for the most points in the livestock and produce section. Mr. J. C. West, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Ganges, B.C., was at the fair to make the presentation to Mr. Hunt-Sowery.

Mr. J. B. Jennens of South

Island was top winner in the vegetable section and Mrs. Bennett took the leads in the floral and cooking exhibits.

Mrs. W. W. Hunt-Sowery had the most points in the canning products and Miss L. E. Underhill of Vancouver, a former Mayne Island resident, was way ahead in the sewing and embroidery section. Mrs. A. Horton of Sidney held the lead in arts and crafts.

TEARS

There was a good display in the children's section, especially in the field work. Little Diane Arnold of North Vancouver who is an island resident for the summer, couldn't hold back tears of excitement when it was announced that she had won the F. J. Dodds cup for the best work in the show.

Mr. F. J. Dodds, president of the Mayne Island Horticultural Society, introduced the

The Home Arts Building will be particularly busy and attractive during the 1960 Golden Year exhibition August 20 to September 5.

In addition to the Home-Maker of 1960 and Junior Home-Maker contests, there will be daily fashion shows and handicraft demonstrations. An orchestral program will be presented each afternoon from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

ONTARIO GROUP

The Ontario Social Group of Victoria will meet on Wednesday, Aug. 17 at 8 p.m. at 1400 Broad Street.

50 AND UP

The regular meeting of the 50 and Up Club will be held on Wednesday in the Cade Memorial Hall at 2 p.m.

Hon. Newton P. Steacy, Minister of Agriculture, who officially opened the fair.

Mr. Steacy voiced high praise for the exhibits in the fair and then urged the Mayne Islanders to utilize their land to a greater degree.

"This island is good sheep country and I would like to see more sheep raised on the island," Mr. Steacy said. He added that British Columbia raises only 36 per cent of the lamb sold here and that the department would like to see more "home grown" products.

Judges for the annual show were Mr. A. Little of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, livestock and produce; Dave Anderson, Deep Cove Art Centre, arts and crafts; Mrs. J. Dunn, needlework, knitting and embroidery; Muriel Wilson, canning and preserving; and Dorothy Wronowski, cooking.

which often marks the waistline of a dress, appears again on hats.

The theatre suit is gone, with dress-and-coat or suit-and-coat ensembles taking over.

RICH FABRICS

Fabrics are rich for late day and evening wear with satins, velvet and brocade appearing frequently.

Late-day dresses were shown with side drapings and many hats were co-ordinated with the same effect. Purple was shown frequently and Miss McGillawee said that for the first time brown has replaced black as the basic color for all times of day.

Sashes replaced belts and appeared everywhere — on collars, at the back of dresses and sometimes on hats.

Most of this season's dresses are two inches below the knee with late-day wear sometimes a little longer.

The overblouse is the darling of the fashion world this year. Full skirts are definitely back and there are indications that the long evening gown will have greater prominence than in past seasons.

Piping and braid trims, a Spanish influence, appear frequently on dresses, suits and even coats. Satin binding,

Beverley Lidstone Bride of R. P. Emery

Miss Beverley Phyllis Lidstone, who was married last Saturday, presented half her bouquet to her grandmother, Mrs. K. Linford, and half to the groom's grandmother, Mrs. I. Emery, after her wedding at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas M. Lidstone, 1197 Clovelly Terrace. The groom, Mr. Roger Patrick Emery, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Emery, 4598 Torquay Drive.

The double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. J. L. W. McLean.

Baskets of white and yellow gladiolus decorated the church and pews were marked with white roses and lily of the valley.

The slim, dark-haired bride was lovely in a gown of nylon net and Chantilly lace over white satin with jewel-trimmed sash and lily point sleeves. A Princess Margaret crown held her chapel-length veil and she carried gardenias and Rapture roses.

A strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, and a pearl and diamond sunburst which had belonged to the groom's late grandmother, completed her costume.

Miss Bev Gillies, maid of honor, wore an aqua dress of crystal charm and bridesmaids Denise Holmes and Nancy Emery were in yellow and pink, respectively. They had small picture hats of nylon tulle to match their dresses. The maid of honor carried white gladiolus and feathered carnations and the bridesmaids' bouquets of the same flowers matched their gowns.

Susan Linford, flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of aqua crystal charm and carried a basket of flowers.

Mr. David Emery was best man for his brother and Mr. Barry Lidstone, Mr. Neil Vigar and Mr. Gerry Wray acted as ushers.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. G. Brown sang "A Wedding Prayer."

The Victoria Girls' Drill Team formed a guard of honor as the couple left the church. At the reception held at 950 Terrace Avenue, Mr. Gilbert Brown proposed the toast. A three-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother centred the refreshment table.

Leaving on a motor trip to San Francisco the new Mrs. Emery wore a dress of wheat shade, moss green hat and corsage of green cymbidium orchid. On their return they will make their home at Shoreline Apartment, 105 Island Highway.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Worried Aunt" who wrote about her nine-year-old nephew being dressed like a girl, brought back nightmarish memories.

I'm now married and the father of four children. No one will ever know the battle I fought to live a normal life.

My mother was divorced when I was an infant. She kept me in girls' dress and long curls until I went to school. I remember the teacher visiting at our home and pleading with her to cut my hair. Mother gave me dolls to play with and taught me how to sew.

When I was 11 Mother died, but I was pretty much messed up by that time. I went to live with an aunt and uncle who were well aware of my problem. I must have cost them a small fortune for psychiatric care. For seven years I was in treatment.

I was one of the lucky ones who found the road back to normalcy. But when I think of how close I came to a completely different life I shudder.

There are too few enlightened people who realize that these tragic figures are the victims of a very sick parent, and that the problem is mental, not physical. They need understanding not ridicule. Thank you for printing this — if you dare — SAVED.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband thinks an awful lot of your judgment but he doesn't think much of mine.

I work from 8 till 5. His hours are irregular. He often comes home from work at 3 or 4 in the afternoon. I can't sleep up the house before I leave in the morning though I do try to tidy it up somewhat.

My husband has fallen into the habit of bringing home a couple of men and a woman or two from the plant every afternoon. I find them there when I come home. They sit around and drink and talk and sometimes help themselves to food. I've told him I don't mind the men so much but I hate to have strange women in my home when I'm not there.

He says the house is half his and he should be free to invite in anyone he wants. Am I eccentric as he says, or is he inconsiderate? — MOST CONCERNED

Dear Most: When your husband says the house is half his he is right. This means, of course that it's half yours as well and you should not be overriden.

Your objections are perfectly valid. If your husband continues to ignore them tell him you're going to work half days from now on so you can be at home in the afternoon to receive his guests.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm an old fogey who is all hot and bothered by the letter signed "In The Middle."

This unhappy mother wrote to ask what to do about her husband who insisted on giving their 15-year-old son $10 a week allowance to spend on hot dogs, soft drinks and foolishness. All of this nonsense is going on when the family is having a tough time paying bills.

This mother deserves a lot of sympathy and many prayers because I'm afraid the young whippersnapper will soon decide the drinks are too soft and $10 a week isn't enough.

Just because this dad had it rough when he was a boy is no excuse to make a hoodlum out of his son. Too bad the kids today will never know the fun of saving for weeks to get 15c together to spend at a county fair. — OLD FOGEY.

To learn the boo-boo of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing your request, 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamp, self-addressed envelope.)

Police, Clergy Baffled

'Unseen Agency' Gashes, Smashes

WHITE RIVER, South Africa (Reuters)—A police officer reported attacks by an "unseen agency" on 20-year-old Jimmy de Bruin of nearby Farm Datoen.

Police Chief John Wessels described the attacks in these words: "He would suddenly scream 'They're cutting me' and then show gashes, some so deep that blood flowed freely on his body under his clothing."

Police, church ministers and doctors were baffled by the attacks on de Bruin, which started Wednesday.

Wessels said he went with one white and two African constables to the farm to investigate reports of mysterious attacks on the youth. They had been told of glassware and other objects being smashed without apparent cause.

"I walked through the house and as I left the lounge an ornamental sealed glass bowl containing a flower smashed to the floor four feet from the shelf on which it had been standing," he said.

While Wessels was there, de Bruin was wearing shorts and gashes appeared on his legs. The following day a cut appeared on the youth's chest in the presence of two detective sergeants from White River police station, where Wessels is in charge.

Wessels said the cuts crisscrossed up to six inches long and deep enough to draw blood in some cases.

"We are completely mystified," he said.

A priest of the local church who has seen the attacks prayed for de Bruin throughout Saturday. Local doctors have also been present during the attacks.

Jehovah's Witnesses Jailed

By Chinese on Spy Charges

PEKING (Reuters)—Two English Jehovah's Witnesses have been sentenced to prison terms by a Shanghai court on charges of espionage and counter-revolutionary activity, a Shanghai newspaper received here Sunday reports.

Earnest Stanley Jones, 43, was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment and Harold George King, 44, to five years, says the newspaper Wen Hui Pao.

They went to China in 1949, were arrested in 1958, and stood trial last Tuesday.

The newspaper says both men pleaded guilty and "as both appeared repentant, the court gave them the above lenient sentences."

It adds: "Under cover of the cloak of religion they were carrying on counter-revolutionary activities."

Teachers Fear
'Amateurs'
In Education

WINNIPEG (CP) — Ontario teachers expressed fears Monday that control of education may be assumed by "ambitious, eloquent amateurs" such as those organizing the second Canadian conference on education to be held in Toronto in 1962.

The Ontario delegates to the annual conference of the Canadian Teachers' Federation also objected to pressures from national organizations "such as the home and school associations" to "bring the teachers into line with the Canadian conference setup."

Don Thomas, president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, described teachers as a "naive group of do-gooders" willing to go along with almost any suggestion. He said it is a "malady" to assume that education is everyone's business.

Too many laymen are "trespassing" on educational matters that should rightly be the concern of teachers, he said.

Dr. H. O. Barrett of Don Mills, Ont., said Ontario teachers are not afraid of co-operating with laymen but they are afraid of the "pressures exerted by national organizations such as the home and school associations or its provincial counterpart to bring us into line. There is strong evidence that such pressures are being exerted."

Harold N. Parrott of Victoria said that as long as teachers are represented on the national conference they will have an opportunity to influence it.

No Knees
Please
For Boss

LONDON (AP) — The perfect secretary, said a British expert Monday, should keep her knees under cover while the boss is dictating.

And that is why Mrs. Vera Suggs, chief of a British employment agency, set off for Los Angeles wearing a slightly longer skirt than usual.

"With this 'dictation skirt' a girl can preserve decorum," explained Mrs. Suggs. "The idea is to keep the employer's mind strictly on his work."

New Westminster

Seamen Strikers Return
After Talk with Skipper

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Fourteen seamen from the 10,000-ton British freighter Sithonia staged a wildcat strike Monday, then went back to work four hours later after reaching an agreement with the captain.

The crew had picketed the dock where the ship was loading and longshoremen refused to work on it.

Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council, said Capt. H. A. Bolding agreed to improve living conditions on the ship and to cancel fines levied against five crew members.

The fines were to pay for outside help to clean the ship while some of the crew were on leave, he said.

They had previously been reduced to $42 from $150.

Queen Elizabeth

Big Test Facing Strikers

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of Britain's wildest seamen's strike faced a major test Monday night as the big liner Queen Elizabeth steamed to port at Southampton amid mounting tension.

Strikers threatened an all-out effort to get the Elizabeth's 1,300-man crew to join the walkout in the three days before the $3,673-ton vessel, the world's biggest liner, is scheduled to sail back to New York Thursday.

Canard Line officials said they were going ahead on the assumption the ship will sail. Passengers who were to have sailed from Liverpool Friday in the Canadian Pacific line's 25,000-ton Empress of Britain were expected to be airlifted.

Pealing Bells Mark Independent Cyprus Republic

Born In Congo

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (Reuters)—Another independent African republic was born here Monday and it was a happy event in contrast to the sharp birth pains of the neighboring former Belgian Congo.

Extravagant good wishes were exchanged between France and the new nation as a 101-gun salute marked the independence of this former colonial territory of French Equatorial Africa.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today recognized the new Republic of Congo. The Republic of Congo is headed by Abbe Fulbert Youlou as president and premier.

Russians Leaving China by Trainloads

LONDON (UPI)—Relations between the Soviet Union and China have deteriorated to such a point that Soviet technicians and advisers are leaving China "by the trainload," it was reported yesterday.

The reports came from Yugoslav correspondents in Peking and obviously were passed by the strict Chinese Communist censorship. There were similar reports in French circles.

It generally has been known that severe ideological differences have erupted between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and China's Mao Tse-tung. The chief difference between the two is that Khrushchev believes modern events and weapons have done away with Lenin's teaching that war between the Communist and capitalist nations is inevitable. Khrushchev says there must be "peaceful co-existence."

The Chinese Communists follow the Lenin teachings to the letter and are said to believe that a nuclear war even might aid the Communists because there are so many of them they would survive—that such a war might even be desirable.

Defends Pilot

Soviet Lawyer Competent

MOSCOW (AP)—The family of U.S. pilot Francis Gary Powers met his Soviet lawyer for the first time Monday and expressed confidence he is competent and will do his best to help the flyer when he goes on trial Wednesday on espionage charges.

Alexander W. Parker of Richmond, Va., a lawyer who accompanied the pilot's wife, Mrs. Barbara Powers, called the meeting with Soviet lawyer Mikhail Ilich Griniov "highly satisfactory."

Griniov is a kindly-faced man with thinning, close-cropped grey hair and a tiny beard. He was one of the Soviet prosecutors at the Nuernberg trials. Secretary of State Christian Herter, in a letter to Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Monday, accused the Russians of concealing something. Herter said this must be the reason the Russians have refused to let any American see the flyer.

Congo Crisis Alerts UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold last night summoned an urgent meeting of the security council on the latest Congo crisis. The council was expected to meet Wednesday or Thursday.

Hammarskjold acted after Premier Patrice Lumumba announced in Leopoldville that the Congolese government had "no confidence" in the secretary-general and his efforts to pacify the six-week-old West African republic.

Hammarskjold left Leopoldville for New York in a special Swiss Air DC-8 provided for him by the Swiss government.

He was bound for Paris and was scheduled to arrive at New York International Airport early today.

Lumumba, after denouncing Hammarskjold, asked him to delay his departure from Leopoldville to permit a Congolese delegation to travel with him.

WEISBADEN, Germany (AP)—The United States Air Force announced Monday it has started airlifting an additional 4,100 troops and 500 tons of equipment to strengthen the UN in the Congo.

Being added to the UN force, it said, are troops from Ireland, Ethiopia, Morocco, Sudan, Guinea and the United Arab Republic.

Police said their cars were stoned by the mob and reinforcements had to be called from Calgary and High River.

The riot apparently began in the main street outside a dance hall and overflowed into a side alley and a main street restaurant. Spectators were pulled from their cars and threatened by the youths.

No arrests were made, police said, because the three policemen first on the scene could manage only to prevent further outbreaks until aid arrived.

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Monday reported a "startling" increase in United States crime during the first six months of 1960, as reflected in preliminary reports from police in cities of more than 25,000 population.

The report said these urban areas had a nine-per-cent crime increase as compared with the first half of 1959, with jumps in every major offence category.

For the six-months period, robberies were up 13 per cent, the highest increase. Burglaries followed closely with a 12 per cent rise.

Murders, the report showed, advanced six per cent, forcible rape and auto theft five per cent, and aggravated assault four per cent.

Polio Total 102 in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two paralytic polio cases admitted to the Vancouver General Hospital over the weekend were reported in fair condition Monday.

Robert Gill, 37, of Williams Lake and Robert Bryson, 29, of Quatsino, were flown to the city.

Three cases were reported at Kitimat, two men in their thirties and a youth of 14.

This brings the year's total in B.C. to 102.

Revenue $71,820,762 Above Expenditures

An unprecedented early release of the public accounts for the province was made by Premier Bennett yesterday.

The premier told a press conference in Victoria that if the Social Credit government followed the fiscal policies of other provinces it could claim the "largest surplus in our history."

He referred to the $71,820,762 surplus of current account revenue over expenditure listed in the public accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1960. This showed an increase of more than $10,000,000 over the 1959 surplus.

However, Premier Bennett said, under Social Credit's "pay-as-you-go" system the overall net surplus for the year was $5,147,336.14—down from the 1959 figure of $8,533,761.96.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE This net surplus was left after $47,582,437.05 was deducted for capital expenditure out of income; another $18,906,999 was used for debt redemption; and there was a $183,990 net loss on the sale of investments which the premier blamed on "high interest rates set by the national government."

Mr. Bennett said the public accounts were delivered to his office yesterday morning and "released forthwith to the press" that afternoon.

FIRST TIME "It is the first time in the history of our province that a government has been able to get the information contained in its financial report to the public so early," the premier said.

He added that during the past eight years the Social Credit government has "cleared the decks for action" by getting rid of the province's direct debt and still has managed to increase B.C.'s total assets by 150 per cent.

EARLY RELEASE Early release of the public accounts was hailed last night by CCF leader Robert Strachan as a "good idea" which he hoped would be continued.

"There has always been too long a time lag between the end of the fiscal year and release of the report," said Mr. Strachan.

COINCIDENCE? "I don't know if this is a coincidence with the election coming up Sept. 12—but I would like to see the early release of the financial statement in the future."

Ups and Downs of Salmon Fishing

One good 25-pound nine-ounce spring salmon was good for three prizes to Vic Holman, civilian employee at HMCS Naden. Holman held three derby tickets, in the RCN Anglers' Association; ANAF Retarded Children's and Britannia Branch Canadian Legion and this McKenzie Bay-caught beauty won all three. Prizes were two outboard motors and cash. Vic's son, Vic Jr., won junior prize in RCN derby, held in Saanich Inlet Sunday. (Colonist photo.)

Obviously none too happy about his catch—or rather the lack of same—is nine-year-old Grenville Finch-Noyes. Taking part in Sunday's RCN Anglers' Association derby at Saanich Inlet, he had this grumble almost up to the boat when a dog-fish decided it was lunch time. The young fisherman is the son of Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, recently appointed Flag Officer, Pacific Coast. (RCN photo.)

Sandown Racing Agreement Near

VANCOUVER (CP)—Operators of Sandown race track at Sidney, Randall brothers' Ascot Jockey Club, conferred with the executive of the B.C. Horsemen's Association Monday night and it appeared certain that a fall racing season at Sandown will be held.

Len Lucas of the horsemen's association said there was only a matter of about $200, a day between the operators and the horsemen.

He said the track operators had offered a minimum purse of $500, compared with the $550 minimum in effect last season on the island.

The horsemen's association will meet and give the operators a decision by Thursday.

If an agreement is reached, the race meet will be held Sept. 17-Oct. 10.

Jackie Parker Big Spark As Esks Beat Lions, 33-14

EDMONTON—Jackie Parker, seldom less than brilliant, is absolutely devastating against the kind of defence the B.C. Lions showed on Monday night to watch the Edmonton Eskimos make their 1960 Western Inter-Provincial Football Union start with a 33-14 win.

Lions, who showed an imaginative offence directed by quarterback Randy Duncan and as good a halfback combination as there is in Canadian football in sophomore Willie Fleming and rookie Bob Jeter, just didn't have an answer for Parker.

The fearless Edmonton leader tossed touchdown passes to Joe-Bob Smith in the first quarter and to Johnny Bright in the second quarter. Then, moving to a halfback spot with Don Getty at the controls, Parker caught two touchdown passes in the last half.

His first catch came late in the third quarter with the ball scrimmaged on the B.C.

50-yard line. Parker took the pass on the 35 and then left at least five would-be tacklers pawing empty-handed as he uncorked a spectacular run to get the rest of the way.

STEPS ACROSS

Early in the fourth quarter, with play 36 yards out, Parker got in behind the green defensive backfield, took the ball one yard out and stepped across.

Edmonton's final touchdown came with five minutes left when Baz Nagle fumbled trying to run back a punt and lineman Don Stevenson snapped up the loose ball to go 15 yards for the score.

Parker kicked two converts to start defence of his scoring title with a 14-point performance.

OVERSHADOWED

It was only on defence that the Lions were overshadowed. They moved the ball well against the tough Edmonton defence, actually had a 21-19 edge in first downs.

It might have been closer but for a go-for-broke decision made by Lions early in the third quarter when they were trailing by only 7-14 and a costly fumble by Jeter, a stand-out otherwise.

After a stumbling start which saw their defences riddled by Parker's passing and the score go to 14-1, the Lions came back sturdily with an attack which caused Eskimos no end of worry. It featured such things as Fleming and Jeter both tossing forward passes and, in the late stages with victory but a dim hope, some fine pass patterns with Duncan doing some fine throwing.

GOT CLOSE

Lions got close late in the second quarter, Jeter starting a march with a punt return which took the ball to the Edmonton 50. Eight plays later, and despite an offside penalty after a seven-yard gain by Fleming, the Lions scored. Key play was a nine-yard pass from Fleming to Jeter.

The Lions got under way again at the start of the third quarter, marching from their own 28 to the Edmonton five. There, in a third-down situation, they disdained a field goal try to gamble on a touchdown. Duncan had his pass knocked down.

A few minutes later with the Lions again on the march, Jeter fumbled on the Edmonton 32. Five plays later Parker got his first touchdown. Two minutes later he got his second major score.

Winnipeg attack in the last two quarters.

It was the second win in two games for the Grey Cup champions, who have more than balanced the unusually-high, for them, total of 44 points against by piling up 73.

Against Winnipeg's better-balanced attack, the Stamps had only the passing of sophomore-quarterback Joe Kapp.

Kapp was almost sensational as he completed 21 of 33 passes for 393 air yards. He did it in spite of being continually rushed by the Winnipeg defensive line. However, Winnipeg, tackling was so sure and so hard that Stamps receivers fumbled five times with Bombers gaining possession each time.

Bombers had a bit of fumbitis themselves, messing up plays four times and losing the ball three times. Linemen Herb Gray of Winnipeg and Don Luzzi of Calgary each picked up fumbles for touchdowns.

End Ernie Pitts; James, rookie-end, Curt Morz and Lewis scored the other Winnipeg touchdowns. James had a field goal and a single, Shannon made only two converts and got a single point on an attempted field goal, and Shepard ended the scoring with a deadline kick.

Halfback Gene Filipek and end Ernie Warlick got the other Calgary touchdowns with Doug Brown converting all three touchdowns and getting two singles.

Rain also halted proceedings in the Heywood Avenue B game with 4½ innings completed. That game will be replayed.

half game ahead of the Orioles and Chicago White Sox, who drove up Sunday to share the lead.

The White Sox were stopped by Bob Bruce, Detroit rookie, who made his first major-league victory a 4-1 two-hitter. He yielded only a home run to Gene Freese and a double to Roy Sievers.

Herb Score was almost as good, allowing but three hits. However, after walking two in the first inning and permitting a double steal, he wild-pitched to allow both runners to cross the plate, Al Kaline hit a two-run homer in the ninth for the final runs.

Sunday saw the Orioles' eight-game win streak come to an end when Boston Red Sox sneaked through, 3-2. Winning run came in the seventh inning on a base on balls, a single by ex-Oriole Willie Tasby and Ted Williams' high infield hopper.

Meanwhile, the White Sox stormed up to tie the Orioles for the lead as Billy Pierce and a double steal, he wild-pitched to allow both runners to cross the plate, Al Kaline hit a two-run homer in the ninth for the final runs.

Have Pirates Clinched National League Flag?

Pittsburgh Pirates may well have clinched the National League pennant on Sunday.

Leading by four games, they had to play the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals twice. It was a chance to pull away that the Pirates weren't going to miss.

Vern Law, their ace right-hander, was a bit shaky in the first game but he scattered 12 hits well enough to yield only four runs and with Rocky Nelson lending robust support, eased to his 17th win, 9-4.

Then, with three relief pitchers holding the Cardinals scoreless after the sixth inning, the Pirates won the second, 3-2, in the 11th when a walk and singles by Bob Skinner and Don Hoak broke it up. The Pirates lost last night, 3-4, to Philadelphia's last-place Phils but their six-game lead remained intact.

Perhaps cooled off for good, the Cards stumbled to their fourth defeat in a row after getting

Kurt Nielsen Wins Pulp Union Bursary

ALBERNI — First annual bursary to be given by the Pulp and Sulphite Workers Union, Local 595, will go to Kurt Nielsen, 15 Beaver Creek Road.

The Alberni youth recently qualified as a member of the union and is employed during the summer holidays at the MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. pulp and paper division here.

Douglas Nielsen, father of the bursary winner, has been a member of the local for eight years.

Eligible for the $500 award are graduates of local high schools or local residents who have completed university entrance by correspondence, with preference given to legal dependents of a local 595 member or to a member. The grant is for use at a university of the recipient's choice.

ALBERNI — "Esteventure" came to an end for 20 Boy Scouts and their two adult leaders when Second Arrow-smith Troop's two whalers came up the mouth of Somass River Tuesday evening.

With all sails set, a brisk following breeze and motors running, the troop's fleet made a spirited homcoming after eight days of exploring, camping and cruising on the west coast.

The expedition was named in reference to Estevan Point, most distant point of the trip, where Scouts visited the 127-foot-high lighthouse, admired the flying buttresses and counted the 145 steps as they climbed the spiral staircase.

Swims in the warm pools of Hot Spring Cove and in the cold salt chuck at the shore, beach-combing on Flores Island, exploration of the site of an abandoned cannery, a visit to Vargas Island were among the experiences of the trip.

It was estimated that the whalers and their crews travelled at least 250 miles, through the Alberni Inlet and Barkley Sound, along the coast and in and out of the many coves and bays.

Members of the party reported that, except for a series of minor troubles, broken rudders, motor failure and propeller mishap, the journey passed without incident. They admitted that haywire contributed to success of the expedition.

One Scout suffered a slight bout of seasickness in rough weather off Hesquiat but all returned full of health and energy.

Final day of the Esteventure was spent on the water from 6 a.m. when the crew left camp near Tofino until the whalers docked in Alberni at 9 p.m. They went ashore for only an hour and a half to eat lunch on Hand Island.

Boys in the expedition were from 12 to 16 years of age. Scoutmaster Art Skipsey and Rev. Roy Rodgers provided the adult leadership, caution and control.

RCMP Probe Two Break-Ins, Theft

ALBERNI—RCMP in Alberni are investigating two break-ins and a theft which occurred early Saturday morning.

Approximately $50 worth of fruit and vegetables were taken from the rear of the Overwaitea store, Johnson Street. At the Somass Legion on Victoria Quay a side window was broken and a door to an outside storage shed had been broken into, but it is not believed that anything was missing.

There was evidence that Alberni Athletic Hall, Beaver Creek Road, had been entered, also early Saturday morning, with entry gained through an unlocked window.

Class Shifts Unlikely At Cowichan

DUNCAN — Unless there is a "terrific overload" of school students registering next month there will be no double-shifting in school district 65 (Cowichan).

Authorities have predicted there will be 3,345 students—2,049 elementary and 1,296 secondary—after school starts Sept. 6.

School inspector A. D. Jones said yesterday there will be no shifting of classes "unless there is a terrific overload, which sometimes happens. I don't think it will."

Registration of all grades and classes takes place Sept. 6. But regular class studies start the following day, said Mr. Jones.

The locked-for increase is about 225 students more than the last school year.

Cowichan High School annex will be used until the eight-room Somers Junior High School is completed sometime in December, said Mr. Jones.

Construction crews have completed building a three-room addition to Alexander, one room each to Bench and Tansor and two rooms to Somers. All are elementary schools.

Actual figures won't be known until classroom teachers hand in their figures during the first week of school.

Without Headlights

DUNCAN — Daniel Butterworth of Koksilah was fined $50 yesterday after pleading not guilty to a charge of driving while his licence was under suspension.

His lawyer, Thomas Lines, told the court Butterworth deserved the benefit of the doubt because police did not see him at the wheel of his car.

RCMP Const. Jack Wiegert said he saw a car without headlights on the Trans-Canada Highway just south of town last Wednesday, and by the time he had turned around the car was parked and Butterworth was walking from it about 20 feet away.

Butterworth denied knowing whose car it was, but after a letter was found in it addressed to Mrs. Butterworth, he said: "I guess that's my wife's car. I wonder how it got there?"

New Deal For Students

DUNCAN — Slow learners in the public school system will be getting a new deal this year.

A. D. Jones, school inspector, said they will be taught in a school used for other classes. "Being mixed with other students is the preferable thing," he said yesterday.

Estimated figures stand at 30 students in two classrooms, to be held this year at Fairbridge school. Last year there were in Zenith school that is not used for regular classes.

Alberni

Delay Protested On Post Office

ALBERNI — Some 620 residents on a rural postal route have protested to Postmaster-General William Hamilton for holding back on plans to enlarge Alberni's post office.

A letter, embodying the protest from S. W. Rand of Beaver Creek on Rural Route 1 was passed on to Alberni council, sharply divided on the postal issue for months, by Mayor Mabel Anderson.

Mr. Rand emphasized in the letter that residents on the rural route "do not wish any action taken which would close the Alberni post office."

The postmaster-general was criticized in the letter for recognizing the "minority group" Alberni Voters' Association by withholding action on the building. The urban association had asked that a referendum be taken before the building was enlarged. The postmaster-general had warned that if the project was undertaken postal delivery within the city would not be instituted for many years.

Mayor Anderson, who had supported a proposal to enlarge the post office rather than have postal delivery emanating from Port Alberni, waved in the air of the council chamber a paper some six feet long, which, she said, contained the rural route residents' petition and 620 names.

The letter, she said, had been handed to her too late to include in this week's agenda.

When Ald. Russell Foxcroft proposed a motion to refer the letter to the next council meeting, the mayor refused to accept the motion, declaring it was out of order because there was nothing in the correspondence that required council action.

Rezoning Bylaw Authorized

B.C. Telephone Company plans to build a $300,000 administrative centre on a triangular, 4 1/2-acre section of land near Swan Lake received a dubious boost last night.

After a two-hour public hearing into the company's application to rezone the land for light industrial use, council, by four votes to three, approved a motion to rezone the land.

TWO-THIRDS But, Reeve Chatterton warned the council, the motion only provides for a rezoning bylaw to be prepared. For the bylaw to pass it will require a two-thirds majority—at least five votes in favor.

The motion was passed over strong opposition from council's Advisory Planning Commission, town planner Antony Parr and Brahm Wiesman, director of the Capital Region planning board.

And despite information from Mr. Parr that the provincial Highways Department is planning an extension of Blanshard Street, through the property in question, to join up with Douglas Street, near Swan Lake.

BLANSARD EXTENSION Information about the proposed extension of Blanshard Street was a surprise announcement by Mr. Parr. Provision for the extension has been made in laying out the multi-million dollar shopping centre to be built immediately south of the land B.C. Telephone Co. is seeking.

Plan apparently favored by the location branch of the highways department is for the land to join with Douglas Street at or about the junction of Douglas and Vernon.

The land sought by the B.C. Telephone Co. is just south of that junction.

INDUSTRIAL WEDGE Opposition to the rezoning application by Mr. Parr and the Advisory Planning Commission was based on the argument that the development would drive an industrial wedge between the huge shopping centre and the site of the proposed $1,000,000 civic centre planned by Saanich council.

Mr. Wiesman was among spectators at the private hearing. Asked by Reeve Chatterton what he felt about the situation, if the civic centre is established, Mr. Wiesman said: "I would say it would be a gross error."

Steady Grits Teeth At Liberal Handout

By PETER BRUTON

GRIT IN EYE: Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy may not feel inclined to hand out any more prizes at B.C. fall fairs until the provincial election is over — after what happened at the Mayne Island fair during the weekend.

Mrs. Steacy pulled out the hidden draw prize, noted that the winner was Hugh Heath — Liberal candidate for Nanaimo.

A short time later Mr. Steacy himself had to hand out the "spot" prize. The winner: Mrs. Heath.

Mr. Steacy gritted his teeth and was heard to mutter: "That's all they'll win."

CLEAR OVERHEAD: There will be no election banners in the sky if Victoria city council approves a finance committee recommendation today.

The committee yesterday recommended that a request by two Oak Bay candidates for permission to string election banners across streets in the city near the Victoria-Oak Bay border be rejected.

Seeking permission were Conservative James A. A. George and Liberal Alan Macfarlane.

"Then we would have to let the Victoria candidates do it and the banners would be so thick you could practically walk on them," said Ald. Hugh Ramsay. "It would become completely out of hand, because if you do it for one, it's wide open for everybody."

LARGE LIST: Actual number of British Columbians eligible to vote in the Sept. 12 provincial election will be known within a few days but registration officials expect it to be close to the 900,000 mark. In the last election, in 1956, there were 778,587 names on the voters' lists.

Printers have started work on the lists and their counts of names will be forwarded to the chief electoral officer.

Fly Here Saturday At 2 P.M.

Fern Villeneuve saw Victorians yesterday as individuals, but Saturday—if he has a moment to catch his alert blue eyes their way—he'll see them as a blur going past at nearly 500 miles an hour.

Squad. Ldr. Villeneuve came to Victoria yesterday in a golden convertible, but Saturday he will come leading the RCAF's famous Golden Hawks.

WON'T SEE MUCH He won't see much of the spectators along the Beacon Hill waterfront at 2 p.m., he said, because when the Hawks are rushing past in their six Sabres at 50 feet the crowd will be a blur, and when they are doing aerobatics at 400 feet they won't have a fraction of a second for a glance.

And from the top of a loop, sitting upside down in the sky, the Hawks will see the spectators only as tiny dots.

They won't have a chance to look at the spectators from the top of every loop, anyway.

MOST DIFFICULT The most difficult part of their aerobatic exhibition is the timing of the four-way crossover, the 33-year-old squadron leader said, "but the part that keeps us working hardest is the double loop with a change of formation at the top of the loop."

He made abundantly clear why hard work is involved. When the Sabres are in tight formation, he said, their wings overlap by about 10 feet, and the wing of one is about three feet above the wing of another.

FLY FASTEST The timing of the crossover is particularly difficult, he said, because the four planes coming in from four different directions have to arrive at the predetermined crossover point simultaneously, and they fly fastest for this part of the display—500 knots, or about 580 miles an hour.

At that speed, Squad. Ldr. Villeneuve said, being a second or two off isn't good enough, because a second represents almost 300 yards.

DAILY PERFORMANCE As well as appearing in Victoria Saturday, the Golden Hawks will give shows at Nanaimo Thursday and Friday at 2 p.m., will visit Combs Aug. 25 and will give daily performances in conjunction with the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver Aug. 29 to Sept. 3.

Mill Bay City Driver Fractures Skull

DUNCAN — A Victoria resident is in good condition here at King's Daughters' Hospital with a fractured skull received in an accident near Mill Bay Sunday evening that sent five persons to hospital.

Robert Griffiths, Victoria, was injured about 9 p.m. when the car he was driving left the Trans-Canada Highway at Hutchinson Road on a straight stretch while proceeding south.

Also in the car were Darryl D. Cook, Victoria, who received a broken leg; Sarbar Joe Sangah, Victoria, with lacerations, and John Stunka, Victoria, who received minor cuts, and was released after treatment.

Griffiths and Cook had crashed through the windshield of the car that ended in a ditch. Damage to the car was estimated at more than $500.

Fireman's Ankle Broken In Fall from Fire Truck

Ten runs Saturday and Sunday took Saanich firemen to no major blazes, but cost the department one man.

Robert Sproule, 3130 Freshette, suffered a broken ankle

when thrown from a fire truck by a bump, when the men were responding to a grass fire on Granville.

Fireman Sproule was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital

where he was treated and admitted. His condition yesterday was "fairly good." The fire burned a half-acre of grass and brush.

None of the other Saanich calls were for serious fires.

Work, Play to Resume

Island Forests Opened

The general forest closure over the southern part of Vancouver Island, the Gulf Islands and the Fraser Valley east to Hope, imposed August 9, was lifted at midnight last night.

At the same time, campfire permits which were suspended in certain areas on July 20, were reinstated.

CARE URGED
But, in announcing the opening of the woods, deputy forests minister R. G. McKee warned that the closure and the suspension of permits will be imposed immediately if hazardous conditions return. He urged great care while in the woods.

Victoria weatherman William Mackie last night predicted that humidity would remain high, possibly until the end of this week.

"The considerable increase in humidity, coupled with a favorable weather outlook and a relatively low incidence of new fires in the district over the past few days have combined to make this action possible," Mr. McKee said.

NORMAL ACTIVITY
The lifting of the closure will enable normal industrial and recreational activities in the forests to resume.

The general forest closure in the Bella Coola Valley, in the Prince Rupert district, has also been lifted. Local regional closures remain near Nelson and Prince George.

EXTENSIVE CLOUD
Mr. Mackie said last night he expected extensive cloud in the next few days, some sunshine later, and a general return to cloudiness near the end of the week.

A total of 12 new fires began in the Vancouver Forest District over the weekend, including four on Vancouver Island.

Firefighting costs in British Columbia so far this year total $3,700,000. In 1959, the province's worst forest fire year, the cost was $4,800,000.

Pealing Bells Mark Independent Cyprus

Republic Born In Congo

BRASSAVILLE, Congo Republic (Reuters)—Another independent African republic was born here Monday and it was a happy event in contrast to the sharp birth pains of the neighboring former Belgian Congo.

Extravagant good wishes were exchanged between France and the new nation as a 101-gun salute marked the independence of this former colonial territory of French Equatorial Africa.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today recognized the new Republic of Congo.

The Republic of Congo is headed by Abbe Fulbert Youlou as president and premier.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Church bells pealed at midnight Monday night as the Mediterranean island of Cyprus became an independent republic after 82 years of British rule, the last five marked by hatred and violence.

A message from Queen Elizabeth wished the new state well and hoped the links between Britain and Cyprus would be maintained and strengthened.

The republic was formally treated with the signatures of British Governor Sir Hugh Foot, Cypriot president-elect Archbishop Makarios, vice-president-elect Fadil Kutchuk and Greek and Turkish representatives.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan sent a message assuring the republic of the "continued friendship and interest of the United Kingdom."

The messages were read by Foot during a ceremony at which treaties and other documents establishing the republic were signed.

To Highest Post

NAMED TO HIGHEST U.S. MILITARY POST is army chief of staff Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, 60, a former paratroop general. He will succeed the air force's 62-year-old Gen. Nathan Twining as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, the nation's military strategy planning body. Twining has been acting for a year.

Soviet Lawyer Competent

MOSCOW (AP)—The family of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers met his Soviet lawyer for the first time Monday and expressed confidence he is competent and will do his best to help the flyer when he goes on trial Wednesday on espionage charges.

Alexander W. Parker of Richmond, Va., a lawyer who accompanied the pilot's wife, Mrs. Barbara Powers, called the meeting with Soviet lawyer Mikhail Ilch Griniov "highly satisfactory."

KINDLY-FACED

Griniov is a kindly-faced man with thinning, close-cropped grey hair and a tiny beard. He was one of the Soviet prosecutors at the Nuernberg trials. Secretary of State Christian Herter, in a letter to Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Monday, accused the Russians of concealing something. Herter said this must be the reason the Russians have refused to let any American see the flyer.

No Tip, No Food For Congo Canucks

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (UPI)—Strange and unexpected things happen to the Canadian UN force serving in darkest Africa. For example: This morning the men had to go into the kitchen and cook their own breakfast at the guest house at which temporarily they are being fed.

The reason: The waiters had walked out on strike because the Canadians were paying for their meals with national defence department vouchers—and omitting the formality of tipping.

Red Foothold in Cuba Grave Threat—Herter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said last night the American hemisphere is "gravely threatened" by Soviet intervention. He made the statement as he left for an emergency session of Organization of American States in Costa Rica called to study the problem of outside interference in hemisphere affairs.

Congo Crisis Alerts UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold last night summoned an urgent meeting of the security council on the latest Congo crisis. The council was expected to meet Wednesday or Thursday.

Hammarskjold acted after Premier Patrice Lumumba announced in Leopoldville that the Congolese government had "no confidence" in the secretary-general and his efforts to pacify the six-week-old West African republic.

Hammarskjold left Leopoldville for New York in a special Swiss Air DC-6 provided for him by the Swiss government.

BOUND FOR PARIS
He was bound for Paris and was scheduled to arrive at New York International Airport early today.

Lumumba, after denouncing Hammarskjold, asked him to delay his departure from Leopoldville to permit a Congolese delegation to travel with him.

WEISBADEN, Germany (AP)—The United States Air Force announced Monday it has started airlifting an additional 4,100 troops and 500 tons of equipment to strengthen the UN in the Congo.

Being added to the UN force, it said, are troops from Ireland, Ethiopia, Morocco, Sudan, Guinea and the United Arab Republic.

Police said their cars were stoned by the mob and reinforcements had to be called from Calgary and High River.

The riot apparently began in the main street outside a dance hall and overflowed into a side alley and a main street restaurant. Spectator—were pulled from their cars and threatened by the youths.

No arrests were made, police said, because the three policemen first on the scene could manage only to prevent further outbreaks until aid arrived.

Polio Total 102 in B.C.
VANCOUVER (CP)—Two paralytic polio cases admitted to the Vancouver General Hospital over the weekend were reported in fair condition Monday.

Robert Gill, 37, of Williams Lake and Robert Bryson, 29, of Quatsino, were flown to the city.

Three cases were reported at Kitimat, two men in their thirties and a youth of 14. This brings the year's total in B.C. to 102.

To Lead Laos

HARD-LINE NEUTRALIST Prince Souvanna Phouma agreed yesterday to head new government in Laos following revolutionary overthrow of pro-Western regime. The revolution had anti-American overtones, but many observers felt rebels were "sincere" and not reds.

Crime Increase 'Startling'

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Monday reported a "startling" increase in United States crime during the first six months of 1960, as reflected in preliminary reports from police in cities of more than 25,000 population.

The report said these urban areas had a nine-per-cent crime increase as compared with the first half of 1959, with jumps in every major offence category.

For the six-months period, robberies were up 13 per cent, the highest increase. Burglaries followed closely with a 12 per cent rise.

Murders, the report showed, advanced six per cent, forcible rape and auto theft five per cent, and aggravated assault four per cent.

Russians Leaving China by Trainloads

LONDON (UPI)—Relations between the Soviet Union and China have deteriorated to such a point that Soviet technicians and advisers are leaving China "by the trainload," it was reported yesterday.

The reports came from Yugoslav correspondents in Peking and obviously were passed by the strict Chinese Communist censorship. There were similar reports in French circles. It generally has been known that severe ideological differences have erupted between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and China's Mao Tse-tung.

The chief difference between the two is that Khrushchev believes modern events and weapons have done away with Lenin's teaching that war between the Communist and capitalist nations is inevitable. Khrushchev says there must be "peaceful co-existence."

The Chinese Communists follow the Lenin teachings to the letter and are said to believe that a nuclear war even might aid the Communists because there are so many of them they would survive—that such a war might even be desirable.

City Accident Spectacular

One person was killed and two injured shortly before midnight last night in a violent collision involving two cars, one of which glanced off a tree and plowed into the front of a home on Hillside near Belmont.

Police found the body of PO David Orton, HMCS Margaree, cut through by the twisting impact, on the pavement, about 150 feet from the wall of the house at 1303 Hillside where the hurtling car crunched to a stop.

ONE IN HOSPITAL
Another person in the same car, unidentified by press time, was taken to Naden hospital, but he was not believed to be seriously injured.

Police were not certain which person was driving the car. Driver of the other car was Atwell C. D. King, 2091 Townley, treated for minor cuts and released from St. Joseph's Hospital.

C. F. Blatchford, asleep in a room just above the point where the car struck the house, said he was awakened by the crash of the two cars. As one car careened into the house, "it was just like an explosion. The whole house shook," he said.

HIT BEAM
The car hit a main beam of the house, which absorbed the impact and kept the car from plummeting inside.

The car in which the man died was moving west on Hillside when it struck an oncoming car and glanced into a tree, hurtling across the road into the house on the south side.

Despite the violent collision, the dead man's watch was found under his wrist, strap broken but still ticking.

B.C. Surplus $5,147,336

An unprecedented early release of the public accounts for the province was made by Premier Bennett yesterday.

The premier told a press conference in Victoria that if the Social Credit government followed the fiscal policies of other provinces it could claim the "largest surplus in our history."

CURRENT ACCOUNT
He referred to the $71,820,762.69 surplus of current account revenue over expenditure listed in the public accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1960. This showed an increase of more than $10,000,000 over the 1959 surplus.

However, Premier Bennett said, under Social Credit's "pay-as-you-go" system the overall net surplus for the year was $5,147,336.14—down from the 1959 figure of $8,533,761.96.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE
This net surplus was left after $47,582,457.05 was deducted for capital expenditure out of income; another $18,906,999 was used for debt redemption; and there was a $183,990 net loss on the sale of investments which the premier blamed on "high interest rates set by the national government."

Mr. Bennett said the public accounts were delivered to his office yesterday morning and "released forthwith to the press" that afternoon.

FIRST TIME
"It is the first time in the history of our province that a government has been able to get the information contained in its financial report to the public so early," the premier said.

He added that during the past eight years the Social Credit government has "cleared the decks for action" by getting rid of the province's direct debt and still has managed to increase B.C.'s total assets by 150 per cent.

EARLY RELEASE
Early release of the public accounts was hailed last night by CCF leader Robert Strachan as a "good idea" which he hoped would be continued.

"There has always been too long a time lag between the end of the fiscal year and release of the report," said Mr. Strachan.
